CZECHS MOVE UP ARMY TO FORTS ALONG DANUBE

Magyar Troops Mass on Opposite Shore.

KOMAROM, Hungary [At the Czechoslovak Frontier], Oct. 16.—(AP)—Both sides of the Danube river, a dividing line between Czechoslovakia and Hungary, bristled with armaments tonight.

Hungarian reinforcements were expected to bolster positions on this side of the river after mobilization of five Hungarian army classes by tomorrow night. Tens of thousands of soldiers already are in line along the border.

On the other side Czechoslovak officers acknowledged troop movements toward their frontier facing Hungary. One Czechoslovak diplomat said it was possible that Prague had ranged from 500,000 to 750,000 men along the Danube. The troops entered fortifications along 600 miles of the Hungarian border.

Both Sides Await Showdown.

Hungarians on both sides of the Danube anxiously awaited a showdown on Hungary's demands that would send her troops peacefully into Hungarian-populated areas of Czechoslovakia.

Hungarian sources, meanwhile, made new charges of suppression of Hungarian nationalists by Czechoslovak troops. Hungarian newspapers said Czechoslovak armed forces frequently resorted to tanks to break up or prevent demonstrations.

They said persons displaying the picture of Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary, in windows on the Czechoslovak side were arrested.

Czech Troops Alert.

Czechoslovak troops were constantly alert for demonstrations by the Hungarian minority and the army maintained reinforced infantry, machine gun, and artillery units in the border zone.

Refugees arriving at Satoralja Ujhely, occupied peacefully by Hungarian troops as a symbolic gesture, told Hungarian army officers of organization of a "free corps" in Ruthenia.

The refugees said the free corps and Czechoslovak soldiers had clashed several times in various parts of the eastern part of Czechoslovakia and that numerous casualties had resulted.

Hungary Calls for Peace.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Hungary, with thousands of her reservists answering a call to arms, still sought a way tonight to bring peaceful pressure to bear on Czechoslovakia to negotiate their territorial dispute.

Although thousands of workers and farmers rushed to military training centers from all sections of Hungary in response to a mobilization of about 200,000 men, officials emphasized that the call was for peace, not for war.

The cabinet examined replies to a note Hungary addressed to Great Britain, France, Italy, and Germany—signatories of the Munich agreement—and to Poland asking for a quick conference or other means to compel Czechoslovakia to fulfill Hungary's demands for cession of Hungarian populated areas of Czechoslovakia.

Nations Make Proposals.

It was not disclosed how many governments answered the Hungarian note, but it was known that Germany, Italy, and Poland had made proposals to settle the Hungarian-Czechoslovak dispute. Foreign office officials said some of these plans sounded promising.

The plans under consideration were said to include a suggestion by Reichsfuehrer Hitler that a mixed commission of Czechoslovak, Hungarian, Polish, British, French, and Italian diplomats meet in Germany within a week.

Another plan, said to come from Premier Mussolini of Italy, was to hold such a council of ministers in Italy.

The commission proposal contemplates renewal of negotiations at the point where they were broken off at Komarom last week in an attempt to reach an agreement in principle on ethnographic [racial], economic, and strategic "justice" to be applied to further territorial negotiations between Budapest and Prague.

Trains, Danube river boats and buses were thronged and private automobiles congested highways as civilians moved hurriedly to mobilization centers to exchange their mufti for army uniforms.

Dead Tiger Bites Woman; Police Save All but Toe

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—"A dead tiger has bitten a woman" was the telephone message received today by Desk Sergeant Thomas Manning. He sent an ambulance and police car to the house. The ambulance surgeon reported back to the sergeant that the woman, a cook in the house, had slipped on a polished floor and entangled her foot in a tiger rug in such a manner that one of the tiger teeth cut her toe.

SEIZE 4 TAKING PHOTOGRAPHS IN CANAL ZONE

One Woman Among Prisoners.

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Four Germans, including a woman, were arrested on suspicion of espionage by military police today when they were found taking photographs in the Fort Randolph area of the Canal Zone fortifications.

The woman, booked as Ingeborg Gutmann, and another prisoner who gave his name as Hans Schackow, were said by military authorities to be employés of the German Hapag-Lloyd Steamship line agency at Cristobal. The other two were listed as Gisbert Gross and Edward Robert Kuhrig. Their addresses were not given.

Sentry Lets Them Enter.

The four were permitted to enter the Fort Randolph reservation this morning after assuring a sentry they had no camera. Later they were found making pictures of Point Caleta and were taken immediately to the guardhouse. Military authorities confiscated their camera.

Point Caleta is the northernmost point guarding the Atlantic approach to the canal from the east side. Tonight the guardhouse was brightly lighted as army officers and clerks gave every indication of extraordinary activity. Little information could be obtained, however.

The arrests recalled the action of the Panama cabinet last January in forbidding the issuance of licenses for commercial fishing in territorial waters of the republic except to Panama citizens.

Dislodge Jap Fishermen.

The effect of the action was to dislodge numerous Japanese engaged in the fishing industry and to contribute effectively to surveillance of the canal approaches by naval authorities.

The Panama canal, the United States' "life line" for shifting its navy from the Pacific to the Atlantic in time of emergency, is closely guarded.

Strictness of canal zone authorities against loitering results in frequent protests. About a month ago the Colombian consul of Colon, C. Z., was barred from entering a pier because he did not have the necessary pass. The action led to a formal protest.

Bar Cameras from Posts.

Cameras are barred from all posts and soldiers are forbidden to make pictures for themselves except those which are developed by the post photographer and inspected by the post commander.

All piers are surrounded by tall fences and policed. Military detachments are encamped permanently at the lock walls to which access is rigidly limited.

The regular army and navy intelligence service, which searches the Canal Zone and the cities of Panama and Colon, is reënforced by Canal Zone civilian detectives who work closely with Panama police. There are considerable colonies of Germans, as well as Italians and Japanese, in Panama.

The natural vulnerability of the Panama canal has caused it to be termed in some quarters the "Achilles heel" of United States' defense.

SPY TRIAL ON TODAY

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The government will present evidence tomorrow against four alleged agents of the Nazi German government in a spy trial more fantastic than fiction. Eighteen persons were named in the espionage indictments, but fourteen of them are safe in Germany.

United States Attorney Lamar Hardy will offer testimony of Guenther Gustave Rumrich, a United States army deserter, who has pleaded guilty to the espionage indictment and will be sentenced after the trial of his three codefendants. Rumrich is expected to support the charge in the indictment that the German government sponsored and directed the espionage.

The indictments on which Hardy will try Rumrich, Johanna Hofmann, Otto Herman Voss, and Private Erich Glaser, United States army, charges that the German government financed a plot to steal vital military defense, aviation, and commercial secrets from the United States.

A jury of ten men and two women was chosen Friday a short time after the case was called.

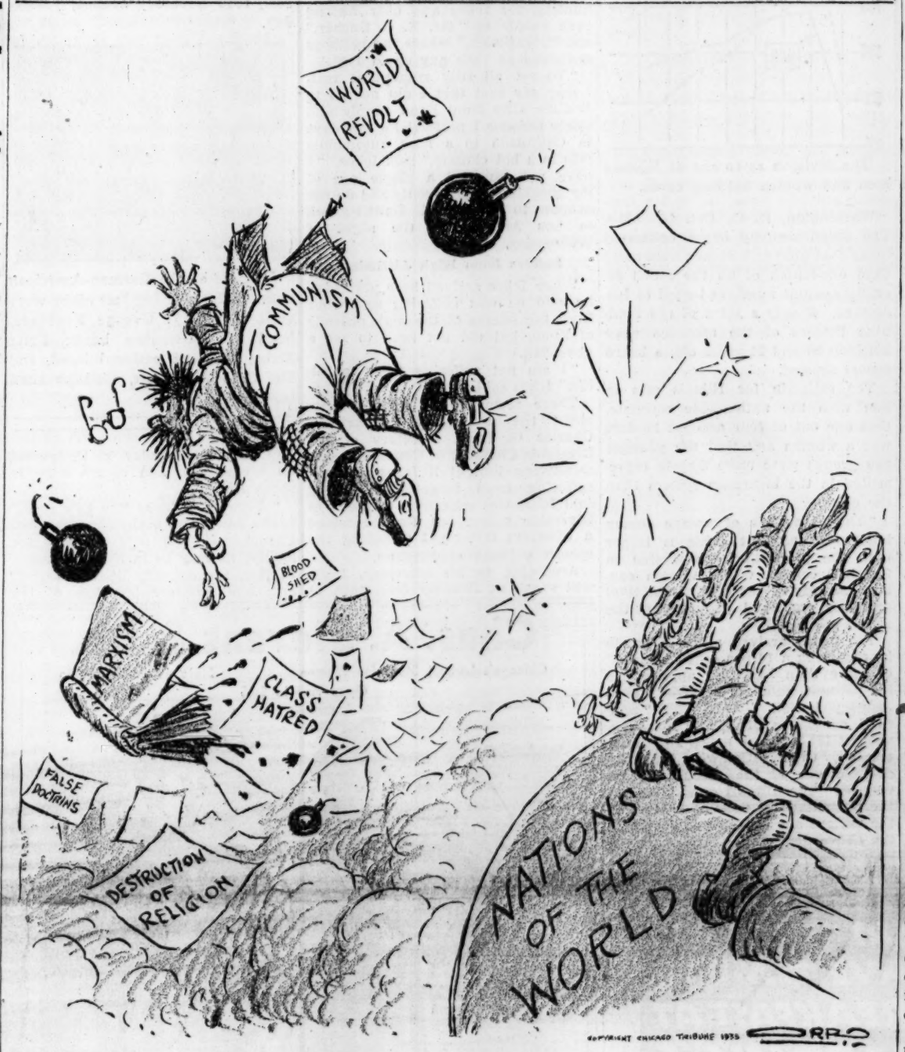
THE FIRST STEP TOWARD SOLVING MOST OF THE WORLD'S TROUBLE



5,000 Protest Bund Meeting; Quell Near Riot

More than 150 policemen yesterday afternoon broke up a near riot that began when anti-Fascists tried to carry an American flag into the Lincoln Turner hall at 1019 Diversey avenue. Inside the hall the pro-Nazi German American bund was holding a meeting to "celebrate the freedom of Sudetenland."

The flag bearers were met at the door by bund members and pushed back to the sidewalk. A sharp struggle was in progress when the police advanced through the demonstrating crowd, numbering more than 2,000, and went into action.

Pelt Police with Vegetables.

No serious resistance was offered, although some in the throng tossed overripe vegetables at the blue coated lines. Mrs. Rose Sebek of 2328 South Cicero avenue, proved the best hurler. She scored a hit on Policeman Sven Peterson's face with a tomato and was arrested. Twelve men who were slow in obeying orders were taken into custody, but were released without charges being placed against them.

For two hours the anti-Fascists loitered within a half block of the hall. Their forces increased to an estimated 5,000. They gave catcalls for Hitler and for the bund. They displayed banners reading "Save Czechoslovakia for Democracy," "Don't Be Betrayed; Fight Fascism," and "Join the German-American League for Culture."

At intervals they sang characteristically American songs, including "The Star Spangled Banner." Policemen said they believed agitators were in the demonstrating forces, but no signs indicating affiliation with radical groups were displayed.

Asks Crowd to Disperse.

The crowd's enthusiasm waned in the evening and Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the police department's uniform rank, suggested that they go home. He called their leaders into conference. Erich von Schroetter, secretary of the German anti-Nazi groups, then made several brief speeches on street corners. He is a former professor at the University of Chicago and at Northwestern university.

"We have accomplished our purpose," Von Schroetter said, "in demonstrating against this bund. We are law abiding. Let us waste no more time here. Let us go home."

Thereafter the groups melted away. Capt. Prendergast kept a large number of policemen on duty while the bund members inside the hall finished their speechmaking, drank their beer, and danced. It was estimated that nearly a thousand attended the bund gathering. Many of the men wore riding breeches and black coats, the bund uniform.

National Fuehrer Speaks.

One of the speakers was Fritz Kuhn, the national Fuehrer of the bund. His speech was in German. Another was Dr. Homer Maerz, who predicted that the bund would have 175,000 members within a year.

"Then we will campaign for good government in America," he said. "We are not getting it now. We are not worried about those outside who want to break up our little volksfest."

All the speakers complimented the police on their efforts to keep order while the demonstration was being made.

BRITAIN'S KING PLANS TO VISIT U.S. IN SPRING, PAPER IN LONDON SAYS

LONDON, Oct. 17.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The Daily Herald today said a state visit of King George VI. of Great Britain to the United States at the end of his Canadian tour next spring would be announced in his speech from the throne at the opening of parliament Nov. 8.

The program, the paper said, provides for a stay of three days and two nights at the White House and one night aboard a United States warship, with a naval review off the mouth of the Potomac as a crowning event.

The program includes, the paper said, a state dinner and a ball at the White House; a state reception by congress at the capitol; a dinner and reception given by King George and Queen Elizabeth at the British embassy in honor of President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt, and a visit to Mount Vernon and the grave of George Washington.

U. S. RECEIVES NO WORD.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Officials at the White House and the state department tonight said that no word, official or unofficial, of the reported intention of King George VI. to visit the United States next spring had been received by the government.

Lawyer Slain by His Wife at Police Station

Benton Harbor, Mich., Oct. 17 [Monday].—[Special.]—William Holbrook, a former assistant prosecuting attorney of Berrien county, was shot and killed by his wife, Patricia, in front of the Benton Harbor police station early today.

Only seconds before the shooting Mrs. Holbrook, who was described as an attractive, stately blonde, had been in police custody at Holbrook's request. She is 34 years old.

Holbrook, 42, and well known as a lawyer here and in Kalamazoo, and his wife had quarreled all evening because of his visit yesterday to his former wife and two sons in Kalamazoo. The quarrel continued until after midnight. Suddenly Holbrook left home saying he was going to a hotel.

Trailed to Police Station.

Mrs. Holbrook followed him. Holbrook walked rapidly to the city police station, situated in the rear of the city hall. Mrs. Holbrook trailed him there. Holbrook appealed to Desk Sergeant Eugene Murphy.

"Keep her here a while," he demanded, "until I can get out and away from her."

Sergt. Murphy, who was alone at the station, agreed, and Holbrook left. Mrs. Holbrook said nothing. About two minutes later the desk sergeant told her she could leave. He made no effort to search her, since the incident did not warant such action, he said, and further, since Holbrook had given no indication that he feared for his safety.

Catches Up with Him.

Mrs. Holbrook hurried to the front of the station, catching up with her husband there. She slipped a small Derringer from her handbag and fired two shots at him, hitting him twice in the left shoulder. She started to run, then returned and fired two more shots, hitting him in the head.

Two store policemen seized Mrs. Holbrook and she was taken to the police station.

Holbrook was dead when he was taken to Mercy hospital. He was a brother of Harvey Holbrook, Berrien prosecutor in 1933. He served as an assistant to his brother during his term as prosecutor. In recent years he had engaged in the practice of law. His wife was his secretary.

Jail First Mate of Miss Etting After Gun Play

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Moe Snyder, ex-husband of Ruth Etting, radio singer, is in jail tonight accused of having attempted to murder her new and secret husband, Myrl Alderman. Alderman is in a hospital and probably will recover from a gunshot wound in his abdomen.

Snyder, born Martin forty-two years ago on Chicago's west side, was known as "The Gymp" in his boyhood and as "Colonel Gymp" in his days along Chicago's Randolph street rialto. According to the police reports, Snyder went to the NBC studio where Alderman is a music arranger, and forced Alderman at the point of a gun to go to Miss Etting's home where the shooting occurred.

When they arrived at the Etting home, according to Miss Etting, she suggested they sit in the music room and talk things over. Alderman sat on a piano bench, Miss Etting sat on a divan, and Snyder took a chair close to the door. Snyder's daughter, Edith, 19 years old, by his first wife, is Miss Etting's secretary and she entered the room, but refused to be seated.

Daughter Refuses to Sit.

Snyder told his daughter to sit down and she refused. "If you don't I'll shoot you," he shouted.

"Go ahead and shoot," Edith replied calmly.

When Alderman turned to speak to Edith, Snyder fired two shots at him, one of which went wild. As Alderman fell to the floor Miss Etting ran to her room for a revolver and Snyder followed. When he sought to wrest the gun from her she dropped it and his daughter recovered it. Miss Etting ran to another room where the telephone was located and Snyder followed.

Then his daughter opened fire on him and he ran from the house, fleeing into the home of Wayne Morris, the movie actor, next door. Snyder stayed there until the police arrived.

Shot in Self Defense, He Says.

"I shot in self-defense," were his first words to police. "Alderman pulled a gun on me when I went to talk with my former wife about some business problems. There was plenty of shooting going on that I didn't do. Ruth knows what happened and she won't prosecute me."

"He was merely jealous," Miss Etting told police today. "He's not satisfied unless he is making trouble. He threatened to kill me before and he even telephoned from New York once to threaten me.

"I am lucky to be alive today. I know he intended to kill both my husband and myself. If it hadn't been for Edith he would have killed me."

Miss Etting divorced Snyder in Chicago Nov. 30, 1937. She and Alderman, who is 30 years old, were mar-

HITS ROOSEVELT FAILURE TO AID IN RED INQUIRY

Dies Points to Lack of Co-operation.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—In a nation wide radio address, Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], chairman of the special house committee investigating un-American activities, tonight deplored the refusal of the Roosevelt administration to coöperate with the investigation.

Martin Dies.

Mr. Dies spoke with restraint, relating without rancor the difficulties encountered by his committee and promising to carry on with the investigation "despite the staggering odds against us."

Try to Stifle Inquiry.

Apart from Mr. Dies' radio speech, the record, as disclosed by members of the committee, shows that the Roosevelt administration has been as zealous in its efforts to stifle the investigation of subversive activities as it was in its support of the La Follette senate inquisition. La Follette's so-called inquiry was conceived by John L. Lewis, dictator of the C. I. O. and political ally of Mr. Roosevelt, and used to intimidate, harass, and smear employers opposed by the C. I. O.

While the La Follette committee, created ostensibly to investigate infringements of civil liberties, was used to promote the fortunes of the C. I. O., the Dies committee undertook to expose the communist leadership of the C. I. O. It did not stop there, but presented evidence showing that communism is rampant in the Works Progress administration, that some projects of the WPA are controled by communists. It also provided evidence that the Workers' Alliance, a union of WPA employés, is a communist organization, and that many high officials of the Roosevelt administration are members of communist "front" organizations, notably the so-called League for Peace and Democracy.

Dies Cites Red Strategy.

Mr. Dies in his radio address spoke of "the well known communist strategy which recommends the use of ridicule, sarcasm, personal attacks, abuse and misrepresentation when it is impossible to disprove under oath damaging facts."

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins publicly ridiculed the house committee's investigation when it demanded information concerning the failure of her department to deport Harry Bridges, Australian communist and Lewis' representative in charge of the C. I. O. unions on the Pacific coast. Because of her obstructionist tactics in the Bridges' case as disclosed by committee evidence, members of the committee plan inpeachment charges against her for neglect of official duty.

More effective than ridicule, however, has been the refusal of the Roosevelt administration to permit the departments under agencies of the government to provide clerical assistance and investigators for the committee. The committee's request for an appropriation of $100,000 was reduced to $25,000 in view of an amendment to the resolution added by Representative Lindsay Warren [D., N. C.], chairman of the committee on accounts.

Resolution Calls for Aid.

This resolution declared that "the head of each executive department is hereby requested to detail to said committee such number of legal and expert assistants and investigators as said committee from time to time may deem necessary."

A similar provision has been incorporated in the resolution creating the La Follette committee. This committee, however, was given a total of $155,000. Speaking in the senate last May 18, when he received the last $60,000 of his appropriation, Chairman

Robert M. La Follette [Radical, Wis.], declared:

"Under the specific authorization contained in the original resolution the committee has had the assistance of numerous departments and agencies of the government in connection with the various phases of its work."

Without such help from the administration, La Follette added, "it would have been necessary for us to have a very much larger appropriation."

Asks Roosevelt for Help.

Relying on the experience of the La Follette committee and the specific request of the house resolution for executive assistance, Representative Dies early in September called upon President Roosevelt to order the assignment of investigators and experts from the appropriate agencies. The President told Mr. Dies he would see what he could do.

After a month's delay, Mr. Dies received a note from President Roosevelt saying:

"Dear Mr. Dies:

"I am a little tardy in sending you the enclosed copies of letters from the acting attorney general and Mr. Hopkins. I have been so much occupied during the last two weeks with the international situation that I have only just gotten down to enclosing these letters.

"Sincerely yours,

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

Hopkins Opposes Aid for Dies.

The first enclosure from WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to the President said he would not be justified legally or otherwise in assigning WPA employés as investigators for the Dies committee. He said, however, that he recently had assigned one WPA employé to the Dies committee, but that he hoped the President would not require him to detail additional employés for that work. He also admitted that WPA had loaned one employé to the La Follette committee purporting to be investigating free speech and the rights of labor.

A Democratic members of the Dies committee said that the single WPA helper assigned to the investigation was obtained from the La Follette committee and not from Hopkins and that this man turned out to be a spy for the La Follette committee, whose investigators were seeking to discredit the investigation of communist, Nazi, and Fascist activities.

Letter from Thurman Arnold.

The second letter enclosed by Mr. Roosevelt came from Thurman Arnold, acting attorney general, who said that it had been the policy of the department of justice to decline to assign G-men to committees of congress. Arnold said, however, at the President's request the department had assigned two attorneys to the La Follette committee. This, he said, was an exceptional case.

The Democratic committee member who disclosed the contents of these letters said the Roosevelt administration had exerted every conceivable kind of pressure in its efforts to stifle the investigation, even to the extent of seeking to discredit committee members in their home districts.

LUCZAK IS NAMED FOR KASPER'S PLACE ON BALLOT

Edward P. Luczak, 2136 Marshall boulevard, was named by the Democratic city central committee yesterday to fill the vacancy on the Nov. 8 ballot caused by the death last Friday of Municipal Judge Michael G. Kasper. Judge Kasper had been renominated in the April primary.

Attorney Luczak has been an assistant to Probate Judge John F. O'Connell for four years. He is a native Chicagoan and is 38 years old. He is a graduate of the law school of De Paul university. Like Judge Kasper, he is of Polish descent. His residence is in the 22d ward of which Ald. Henry Sonnenschein is the committeeman.

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Mrs. Gustave Dussault, her daughter, 8 years old, and her two sisters-in-law were killed today at Yamachiche, Que., when the automobile in which they were returning from church was struck by a train at a grade crossing.

HOFFMAN TELLS HOW C. I. O. MOB BROKE UP RALLY

Women Are Among Those Injured by Rioters.

Allegan, Mich., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Congressman Clare E. Hoffman returned to his home here today and vowed to continue his attacks against the Committee for Industrial Organization and its czar, John L. Lewis. His defiance was stimulated rather than weakened, he said, by the mob of 200 C. I. O. adherents who broke up a Republican meeting in Crystal City, Mo., Saturday night, at which he was the principal speaker.

"I'm ready to return to that town any time they want me," he declared. "Those C. I. O. hoodlums can't scare me away. I've always thought the right to free speech prevailed in this country. Apparently those men don't know the meaning of the term. It's a tragic thing when such a mob can break up a meeting at which I or any one else wishes to state opinions contrary to theirs."

Hecklers' Plans Known.

Hoffman said he knew there were at least 200 men wearing C. I. O. buttons in their lapels when he was introduced by Walter Fuetterer, the chairman. "Nevertheless, I resolved to go ahead with my talk," he said. "I knew the demonstration was planned.

"I saw some guns in the crowd. Other persons, including State Republican Chairman Barak T. Mattingly, also noticed the revolvers."

Informed that Sherif A. R. McKee of Jefferson county, Missouri, had declared guns were in the hands only of his own deputies or local police, Hoffman said: "That may have been true. All I know is that when the fighting started I saw several men draw guns. The sherif may be right when he says none of the C. I. O. men had weapons."

Attacks Roosevelt Policies.

The rioting was preceded by boos and hisses, Hoffman said. "I started to talk even while the heckling continued, attacking Roosevelt expenditures, Dictator Lewis, and the National Labor Relations board."

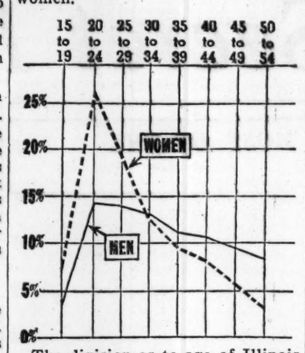
One of the hecklers arose, as at a signal, Hoffman said, and asked: "Are you speaking as a Republican, or merely attacking the national labor board?" When Hoffman asked that the man be ejected, others in the crowd arose and shouted loudly.

As officers moved to restore order, the fighting started. Four women, caught in the rush of men wearing the C. I. O. buttons, fainted. Several men were knocked to the floor.

Finally Chairman Fuetterer asked Hoffman not to continue the address and ordered the meeting adjourned.

Security Accounts

Nearly a third of Illinois workers holding social security cards are women.



The division as to age of Illinois men and women holding cards.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The social security board estimated today that girls and women hold more than one-fourth of all the social security account numbers issued to Illinoisans. Nearly a third of the feminine holders of the accounts were between 20 and 24 years old, a board report showed.

The estimate for Illinois was in line with the nation-wide estimate, that one out of four account holders was a woman and that the younger age groups were more largely represented in the insurance system than the older.

"The proportion of women among holders of account cards is larger than the proportion enumerated in the 1930 census, where women constituted only 22 per cent of the total gainfully employed population," the report said.

The board arrived at its estimate by analyzing a 10 per cent "sample" of more than 36,000,000 applications for account numbers received up to January 1 last. The Illinois "sample," consisting of 260,910 accounts, showed 184,369 were males and 76,541 females. On a nation-wide basis the average age of the account holder was 35. The Illinois report carries the percentage of account holders in the various age brackets as shown in the above diagram.

ICKES RECOVERS POISE; TAKES POP AT CALIFORNIA

Resumes Own Name and Cancels Cancelations.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes left here tonight for Los Angeles after taking a wallop at California as a state where rumors grow as big as navel oranges.

The rumors were that Ickes canceled a speech in Boulder City, Nev., yesterday because Senator Pat McCarran protested to Jim Farley that Ickes' speeches would alienate Democratic voters and that he would cancel a speech in Hollywood on Wednesday night because his sponsors had advertised him as a $2.20 attraction.

"It's damned tommyrot," Ickes told newspaper men, who caught him in a hotel lobby where they had been hunting for Ickes and only finding such people as "Mr. R. G. Sucher," and "Mr. Smith," whom the bellboys described as "the guy up in 1120."

"To set all silly rumors at rest, I may say first that I did not go to Boulder City from Reno simply and solely because I preferred a few days in California to a long automobile ride in a hot climate," said Ickes. "I have not canceled a single one of my speaking engagements and do not propose to cancel any. I shall speak in Los Angeles on the night of Wednesday, Oct. 19."

Suffers from High Altitudes.

When Ickes arrived here yesterday he said he was suffering somewhat from the effects of the high altitude of Reno, but did not need to see a physician.

"I am not suffering from cancelitis," Ickes said today.

There seems to be some dispute about the matter of cancelations. Charles O. Reed, secretary of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce, was wondering tonight if Ickes was not suffering from forgetfulitis. Reed said Ickes was scheduled to speak in Riverside today, but Reed received a telegram last night canceling the speech without explanation.

According to his secretary, Ickes will speak at Brawley tomorrow, at El Centro on Tuesday, at Hollywood on Wednesday, and return here to speak Friday.

"Anyway, it looks like he's gone," read a news story in the San Francisco Chronicle. "But let's not talk too loudly; he may be in the next room. In fact, the doughty little Roosevelt arm and hammer [emblem of the soviets] may be anywhere except where he is supposed to be. San Francisco was as astonished as little Red Riding Hood to find him in her bed in a hotel here."

Incognito Bôle Under Fire.

The newspapers said Ickes changed his name today as often as Gen. Herman Goering changes uniforms, and the hotel was in complete ignorance that it was harboring a fugitive from the lofty position of secretary of the interior.

Ickes remarked here today that he would not have come so far west as the Pacific coast if it had not been for the Hollywood meeting under auspices of the Hollywood Council for Democracy. He said he liked the objects of the organization and that he was complimented by the size and personnel of the citizens' group that is sponsoring the meeting.

Ickes said it is a nonpartisan organization interested enough in the democratic form of government to do something about it. Elsewhere the organization is known as an anti-Nazi society.

Publicity Cause of it All.

Ickes' firm declaration that he will appear at the Hollywood meeting Wednesday night and make his speech about "The Crisis of Democracy" was accepted as evidence that he had recovered from his earlier pique about the methods used to advertise him.

Posters in Hollywood announced it would be "the most important speech Ickes ever has given" and "a chance to see a cabinet officer for a $2.20 ticket."

The publicity organ for the council billed Ickes as the "liberal spokesman for President Roosevelt and the most quoted member of the cabinet."

3 See Car Burn; All Phone Firemen; 12 Trucks Roll

Felix Neid's automobile caught fire yesterday in the alley behind his home at 949 North Western avenue. Neighbors became excited and three telephoned alarms to the fire department. This convinced firemen that a real conflagration was in progress and twelve pieces of equipment were sped to the scene. The automobile was destroyed.

RAILROAD BLOCKS AIRPORT PROJECT, SAYS ALDERMAN

Demand for Concessions Called Shakedown.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

Demands for extraordinary concessions and the raising of last minute obstacles by officials of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad to an agreement with the city for removal of tracks that block expansion of Chicago airport amount to a virtual shakedown. This was charged yesterday by Ald. Bryan Hartnett [12th], chairman of the council aviation committee.

Ald. Bryan Hartnett.

The airport can be enlarged to adequate size only by shifting the C. & W. I. tracks from their present location, where they cut in half the area available for landing field use. This area is bounded by 55th and 63d streets, Cicero and Central avenues. Only the south half of the tract is used at present.

Negotiate for 8 Years.

For three years the city council has been negotiating with the railroad for removal of the tracks. Months ago an agreement was reached in which the city agreed to pay for a new right of way, pay all costs of track removal and new construction. And the city agreed to pay the railroad for the additional annual cost of operating over the new right of way, which will be longer than the old.

"We drew up an ordinance which was a contract between the city and the railroad stating these things," said Ald. Hartnett. "But now the railroad officials insist the city must assume for all time the liability for accidents on the new right of way except when carelessness can be proved against the railroad."

"This is an outrageous requirement," Ald. Hartnett declared. "It might cost the city millions of dollars in the years to come. How can we agree to this? The railroad is trying to squeeze us because they think we are in the nine hole. That's why I say the railroad's stand is virtually a shakedown.

Position Called Unreasonable.

"And the railroad officials know exactly what they are doing. J. R. Barse, general counsel for the road, was perfectly frank about these unreasonable demands. He said he is trying to get everything he can from the city to boost his own stock."

The railroad has taken an unreasonable position on two other important points in the proposed ordinance, Ald. Hartnett said.

First, the road refuses to fix a time for formal acceptance of the new right of way. This must be given before the city can tear out the tracks that now lie across the flying field. The city asks acceptance of the new right of way 30 days after its completion.

Want Appropriation Altered.

Second, the railroad has insisted that the city's appropriation of $800,000 in a lump sum for the track transfer in the 1938 budget was illegal. The railroad lawyers demand a new appropriation in the 1939 budget, in which each item is listed with its cost.

Although this cannot be done until next Jan. 3, Ald. Hartnett said, it is probable that the city must accede to this point. This means further delay because the railroad refuses to begin the work of getting the new right of way or building the new trackage until the appropriation is in the form it requires.

An emergency meeting to consider the situation has been called for at the request of Mayor Kelly. City engineers, members of the aviation committee, and railroad representatives have been asked to be present. Attorney Barse has been asked to appear, but at his home last evening it was explained that he would be away from Chicago until Oct. 31.

Chicago Noes It

This is a variation of the upswept hair style, which smart Chicago women turned thumbs down on after giving it a trial. Reasons: the wind, and their queer ears.

This is the page boy bob, predecessor of the up hair-do. Hairdressers bemoan the "provincialism" of Chicago women who have discarded the upswing and are horrified at the possible return to the page boy.

4 BANDITS KIDNAP PAIR; TAKE THEM ON HOLDUP SPREE

Four robbers kept a young couple prisoners for four hours early yesterday while they made a holdup tour of the north and northwest sides. The victims were Norbert Tomchek, 25 years old, 3728 North Central Park avenue, and Miss Eileen Tiede, 21, of 3931 North Kostner avenue.

They were sitting in Tomchek's car in front of the Tiede home when the men, all young, approached. The leader of the band, a tall stringy youth, exhibited a pistol and warned them to make no resistance.

This man kept Tomchek and Miss Tiede under guard while his helpers went into three homes and held up the occupants. Roy Balder, 6063 North Albany avenue, one of those held up, surrendered $4.50 and a wristwatch. The other victims made no reports to the police. The couple were freed and Tomchek's car was returned to him at 2022 Orchard street. The robbers then fled on foot.

FATHER DIES; SON SOUGHT.

Detroit authorities yesterday asked the Chicago detective bureau to look for George Murphy, believed to be a Chicago policeman or fireman, whose father, Michael Murphy, died of a heart attack in Detroit last Wednesday.

A STYLE TRAGEDY: MILADY LETS HER HAIR DOWN AGAIN

Wind, Ears and Cost All Arrayed Against Her.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Among the minor tragedies that work their tortuous way to a climax in the undercurrent of Chicago life is a new one, entitled "Hair." Upswept hair on woman.

The beauty salons report with dejection that Chicago women are avoiding the supposedly fashionable mode of brushing the hair upward into a reversed dust mop, a style known variously as the bathtub hairdress and the scrubwoman's coil.

Chicago's leaders of fashion already are dropping their locks, if ever they had them up. One fashionable beauty salon will not let its operators adopt the style. Debutantes ignore it, and college girls are openly disdainful. Most fashion dictators predict it will be gone by New Year's day at the latest.

It's a Windy City.

For this catastrophe two explanations have been advanced. One is that unique Chicago problem, wind. The other, in the words of a disgruntled hairdresser, is that Chicagoans are just too set in their ways. In other words, she implied, provincial.

Other, more personal, reasons given by hairdressers are that the style is a trying one for many women; that it is an expensive one, as it requires far more attention than a stringy bob; that it makes the woman of 35 look 45.

"And, of course," a milliner explained, "age a woman and she never forgives you."

Here Are Criticisms.

Here are some of the criticisms of the style from those who know it best, the hairdressers:

A masculine hairdresser—"It isn't very flattering. You need small, sharp features. If you have a large face it just makes it larger."

The feminine manager of a fashionable north side salon: "You don't hate your hair up. You just hate that skinned look behind the ears, that peeled onion effect. They'll modify it somehow. We haven't been as busy in ten years, but what worries me is—on a real cold day, are women going to get neuralgia in the back of the head? I'm having a sealskin hat made."

The manager of a loop department store salon: "It never even got started in Chicago. People just don't like it. I tell you, it's a problem here, but people can't stick to page boy bobs forever. Why, if Garbo came to your back door begging for food you wouldn't speak to her with that mane of hers."

A Milliner Sighs.

A milliner, sighing over the fact that half her hats were made for upswept locks: "It's an expensive proposition to start with. The average woman hasn't the money or the time. That's just common sense. You need thin necks and low, soft hair lines and decent ears—and who has them?"

But Daniel Catton Rich, co-director of the Art institute and curator of paintings and sculpture, speaking from the dispassionate standpoint of art through the ages, said frankly that HE likes it.

"It's artistic," he said. "When woman has an attractive nape of the neck, she should show it. Too, it brings forth the ear again, and most women's ears are quite attractive. Most of the gals look nice in it."

Baby's Fall

Climbing to a chair while playing with his parents, Birken Holbrook, 2 years old, leaned against a window screen and fell four floors to the pavement at 2117 Jackson boulevard yesterday. His father, Dr. V. G. Holbrook, commandeered a passing automobile and took the child to the Presbyterian hospital. Physicians there gave the little boy a chance to live.

WARM WEATHER HANGS ON, AND CHICAGO LIKES IT

Summer played another day of its Chicagoland revival yesterday. Many thousands of motorists crowded the roads as they hurried out to visit the forest preserves. Other thousands crowded the parks. Temperatures under a cloudless sky climbed to 84 degrees at 2 p. m., the highest Oct. 16 reading in Chicago since the weather bureau started keeping records in 1871. Among the signs of approaching winter, however, was the placing of a number of yachts in winter quarters. Forecaster J. R. Lloyd said that today would be much cooler, with showers probable.

Dress Shop Is Robbed of $3,000 in Wearing Apparel

Mrs. Stephanie Pochenska, 2717 North Sacramento avenue, owner of the Belle Dress shop, 1130 Milwaukee avenue, reported to police last night that thieves had broken into the store during the morning, and had stolen dresses, coats, furs, and hats totally valued at $3,000.

ESCALATORS WILL TAKE CURSE OFF LOW LEVEL TUBES

50 Engineers Rush Work on Subway Details.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Most of the old objections to low level subways such as those Chicago is to have are eliminated through the use of escalators, city engineers working on the subway plans said yesterday. Modern escalators are to be installed at all stations on the subway system.

A staf of more than 50 engineers is now rushing work on the subway plans to insure a start on the digging by Dec. 15. The engineers are employed by the city council's local transportation committee under the direction of Philip Harrington and Charles E. DeLeuw, city traction engineers.

Most Details Completed.

Although the station plans are not yet in their final form, most of the details of construction and design have been completed. Each station, the latest plans show, will have a mezzanine level and a loading level. The loading platform will be 35 to 36 feet below the street and the mezzanine floor will be about halfway down.

There will be four entrances from the sidewalks to the mezzanine—one at each corner of the street. These will have conventional stairways. After paying his fare, the passenger can then use an escalator to reach the loading platform.

Continuous Loading Platforms.

All of the station equipment will be on the mezzanine, including cashiers' booths and restrooms. There will be two escalators from the mezzanine to the loading platform.

In the loop district, where stations will be located at every cross street on both the State street and Dearborn street subways, there will be continuous loading platforms. They will be island platforms, that is, located between the two sets of tracks.

In addition to the escalators, there will be stairways between the mezzanine and loading platforms. The escalators will be reversible. During the morning rush hours both escalators at the loop stations can be operated upward and in the evening rush hour downward to give maximum capacity.

VANDERBILT HITS RELIEF POLITICS IN RHODE ISLAND

Gov. 'Rule or Ruin' Quinn Under Fire.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Providence, R. I., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Just a year ago today the governor of this peppery little state declared martial law and poured troops into Narragansett race track to oust a political foe.

That dictator-governor, Robert E. [Rule or Ruin] Quinn, is in the midst of a desperate struggle to prolong his rule over the state. The campaign is marked by instances of wholesale fraud and corruption.

Quinn's target in the Narragansett battle, Walter E. O'Hara, who was forced out as managing director of the track, is running for governor on a "square deal" platform. He is doing Quinn some damage.

O'Hara May Decide Issue.

O'Hara may chisel 10,000 votes away from the governor. That conceivably would be enough to turn the election in this small state.

The Republican nominee for governor is William H. Vanderbilt, 37 years old, former state senator and son of

W. E. O'Hara. W. H. Vanderbilt. Robert Quinn.

Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who died on the Lusitania in 1915. Vanderbilt is carrying on an aggressive campaign. He is hitting at politics in relief, the inefficiency, waste, and graft under the Quinn régime, the skyrocketing of taxes and the boosting of the state budget by 50 per cent in the last four years.

Highlights of Campaign.

Highlights and sidelights of the campaign are these:

1. The Quinn-Democratic machine now controls the bulk of the jobs at the race track. The percentage of favorites winning at Narragansett has dropped sharply as compared with the performances under the O'Hara management. The daily betting volume, or "handle," at the fall meet is averaging $188,000. Under O'Hara the figure was $300,000.

2. All indictments of Democratic bosses, such as State Chairman William A. Shawcross, on a charge of violating the federal corrupt practices act in taking $145,000 of race track money for the 1936 campaign, have been quashed. Patrick Henry Quinn, the governor's uncle, has received $20,000. Suspicion is widespread that the track is being milked again.

3. Persons doing business with the state are forced to "kick back" 2 per cent on all purchases. The tribute is paid to the Quinn organization through a former Providence commodities jobber known as "Two Per Cent Bill." All state and city Democratic jobholders are paying a 2 per cent levy on their salaries.

4. The Roosevelt administration dumped 8 million dollars into the state, ostensibly for hurricane relief, but the funds are being used to build up the pay roll army under Boss Quinn. This latest batch of Washington easy money amounts roughly to $25 per vote in Rhode Island.

WPA on Private Work.

Private dwellings and grounds are being worked on by WPA, although the hurricane money was supposedly restricted to repair of seawalls and highways, clearing of woodlands where there was fire danger from debris, and reconstruction of public buildings damaged by the storm. Favored Democratic contractors are reaping huge profits through the renting of equipment.

Judges of the higher courts are removable by the legislature. There have been recent instances in which Democratic bosses have threatened to throw judges off the bench if they do not render the "right" decision. It will be recalled that Quinn as lieutenant governor on Jan. 1, 1935, gaveled through the unseating of two Republican state senators to get a Democratic majority, then threw out the entire Supreme court of the state. Theodore Francis Green, then governor and now senator, appointed a court to the Democrats' liking.

Sees Relief Continue.

In his tours about the state Vanderbilt has been trying to reassure the people that relief for the needy will go on as in the past if the Republicans win in November.

It is a commentary on the Republican upswing that before the recent hurricane the betting odds around Providence were 3 to 2 that Vanderbilt would beat Gov. Quinn. The hurricane money made some difference. However, the election will be close, and the margin of the winner is not expected to be more than 10,000 votes. Vanderbilt has an excellent chance of winning.

Elected Mayor

North Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Glenda Farrell, who turned her back on her campaign for "mayor" of North Hollywood two days ago in favor of a vacation trip to New York City, won the office today nearly 3 to 1 over Bing Crosby.

The actress had 2,550 votes to 902 for Crosby and 738 for Lewis Stone, film character actor. Frank L. Shaw, Los Angeles mayor recalled several weeks ago, received 81 votes.

The position is an honorary one, corresponding to those held by Al Jolson at Encino, Andy Devine at Van Nuys, and Hugh Herbert at Studio City.

TOWNSEND GROUP FLATLY REFUSES TO BACK CHAPPLE

Madison, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—John B. Chapple suffered a severe blow today in his hopes of being elected United States senator as an independent Townsend Republican, when more than 1,000 Townsend convention delegates voted "not to recommend his candidacy."

The Townsend convention action was based largely on Chapple's effort to run as an independent in violation of his given promise to support Alexander Wiley, the regular Republican nominee. Chapple ran second to Wiley in the primary. Following his announcement to run as an independent, Chapple charged he had been offered $2,600, in the form of radio talk fees, to withdraw from the race and support the state Republican ticket.

U. S. FARM RULE MAJOR ISSUE IN IOWA CAMPAIGN

Contest for Senate Seat Holds Limelight.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sioux City, Ia., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Iowa is in the thick of a battle between two redoubtable antagonists for the senate in which the Roosevelt-Wallace farm program is a chief issue in an agricultural state.

L. J. Dickinson, former Republican senator, leader in the fight a decade ago for the McNary-Haugen equilization fee bill, is opposing Senator Guy M. Gillette, first of the Democratic senators marked for the White House purge.

Gillette was marked for liquidation for opposing the Roosevelt Supreme court packing bill. In the June primaries he beat Representative Otha D. Wearin, indorsed by Harry Hopkins, head of WPA and the so-called White House kitchen cabinet, in what was almost a two to one decision.

Campaign Is Hot.

Both candidates now are making the welkin ring, and as election day draws nearer, the campaign, which was moving languidly, is hitting a red hot pace.

Dickinson, critic of the New Deal, is hammering away on the dictatorship trend in the Roosevelt administration. Oddly enough, in the primary campaign this was an underlying issue emphasized by the Gillette forces. Since June and Gillette's triumph, however, peace has been made, and the word dictatorship seems to have been expunged from the Democratic campaign lexicon.

In the primaries Gillette insisted that President Roosevelt, Postmaster General James A. Farley, and Secretary Henry Wallace were neutral. He poured it on the kitchen cabinet, of which Jimmie Roosevelt is head, and denounced Hopkins and Thomas [Tommy the Cork] Corcoran, adviser and accordionist to the White House.

Strange as it may seem, the court packing matter still is an issue in the campaign.

Hits Three Gillette Bills.

Dickinson's chief attack at present upon Gillette is for introducing three Supreme court bills in 1936 and 1937, one of which would keep a federal law from being declared unconstitutional if two justices dissented. Another required the concurrence of seven justices to declare an act of congress unconstitutional. The third was to remove the effect of former decisions of the court upon laws attacked on constitutionality.

Senator Gillette apparently has taken the view that the question of how he stands on the Supreme court was settled in the primaries when he was marked for slaughter for opposing the Roosevelt court packer. Without replying to Dickinson, on the court question, he instead is tearing back at Dickinson with an attack on his record on farm relief measures.

Battle Heat Rises.

The hotness of the battle between these fighting candidates is indicated in excerpts from their speeches.

Dickinson in his attack says:

"I challenge Guy Gillette to declare himself, and to either repudiate or sustain his record on the Supreme court.

"Let him say he repudiates the three bills that bear his name. If he won't do this let him tell the people of Iowa he stands behind these three bills.

"Let him say he would rather trust fifty per cent of the judgment to a Hugo Black, rather than one-seventh to a Louis Brandeis, a Charles Evans Hughes, a Harlan Stone, a Benjamin Cardozza, an Oliver Wendell Holmes or a William Howard Taft.

"Let him tell Iowa that he would give a Hugo Black and one other judge the right to ignore all the constitutional decisions from the time of John Marshall down to the present."

Senator Gillette has taken as his theme the farm record of Dickinson. He said that in 1928, Dickinson was unable to describe the Republican program for agriculture. Gillette read correspondence he said had passed between Frank J. Lund of Webster City, Ia., and the late James W. Good of Cedar Rapids, regarding the Republican farm program.

His Candidate

Sam Wood, director, supervises daughter's makeup in Cleveland theater.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Sam Wood, who has picked many a movie star in his years of directing, thinks his daughter, Gloria, will go places in the movies. Gloria, playing Alice Sycamore in the stage version of "You Can't Take It With You," here, was visited by her father. After watching her act he declared that the girl, who, as a tot of 18 months, played opposite Jackie Coogan in "Peck's Bad Boy," probably would return to the movies one of these days.

G. O. P. USES OWN FIRESIDE CHATS TO GATHER VOTES

A new movement is under way within the Republican party. It has no name, but it might well be called —"Let's talk it over in the basement," for that is its underlying motif.

This movement is analytical in nature, neighborly in tone. It goes back to the A-B-C's of politics; that is, if you want to put something over, put it over first in the precinct. Briefly, it consists of a series of tiny neighborhood meetings at which candidates talk things over informally with the voters.

One of these was held yesterday afternoon in the basement at 2058 West 103d street, where Robert Mehaffey, president of the Young Republican organization of the 19th ward, lives. About twenty attended. Twenty, it has been proven, is sufficient. It serves the purpose.

A Fireside Chat.

Mr. Mehaffey built a big wood fire, pulled a lot of comfortable chairs up around it and then asked the neighbors in. When they got there, they found three candidates, one each from the national, state and county tickets. Each spoke in a casual yet persuasive manner.

Goodwin L. Dosland, Republican candidate for congress from the 3d congressional district, analyzed what he called the "program of artificial scarcity" of the New Deal.

Grenville Beardsley, candidate for the state senate from the 13th senatorial district, told how Illinois' income has decreased under the New Deal, while state taxes have increased 28 per cent.

Question the Candidates.

Then followed a lively discussion. The neighbors peppered the candidates with questions.

In the 19th ward alone such meetings are held three to four times a week. They are quiet, almost cozy, gatherings, devoid of ballyhoo, flag waving or songs. The result, spokesmen say, it better understanding and a gradual garnering of many anti-New Deal Democrats.

As Raymond A. Pascoe Jr. of 15511 Longwood drive explained it: "Maybe our neighbors are Republicans, but apathetic about it. Maybe they are Democrats, who are apathetic about the New Deal. We are making them all so enthusiastic that they talk about issues and, finally, will get around to casting a ballot in November. "Most of them in this ward," he added sadly, "usually do not."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT QUITS WHITE HOUSE FOR HYDE PARK REST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt came back to his family home here today for another week of relaxation. He plans to divide his attention between political, budgetary, and national defense problems.

Reports circulated that Mr. Roosevelt would throw new light on national defense plans during his Hyde Park stay. Before leaving the nation's capital he abandoned hope of effecting a substantial reduction in the federal deficit for the next fiscal year because of contemplated heavy appropriations for the army and navy.

PEACE PICTURE FOR DEMOCRATS IS RIPPED APART

Kelly Leaves City on Eve of Love Feast.

The picture of harmony that the Democratic party had painted for a public unveiling today had a big hole blown in it when Mayor Kelly departed yesterday for New Orleans to attend the Eucharistic congress.

Everything had been arranged for a terrific three weeks' windup to the state campaign. Patrick A. Nash, Cook county Democratic chairman, had left the city, delegating his leadership of the county organization to Ald. J. M. Arvey. Arvey was elected vice chairman of the committee.

Then the luncheon was planned for today at the La Salle hotel to start Democrats on a united and powerful campaign for votes between now and Nov. 8. There were to be three principal speakers at the luncheon—Gov. Horner, representing his own state machine; Scott W. Lucas, nominee for United States senator, and Mayor Kelly, spokesman for the Nash-Kelly machine.

This would be the picture of Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly, whom the governor had assailed so bitterly during the April primaries, breaking bread together, and uniting in support of Lucas, the leader of their state ticket in the November election.

Yesterday another picture—a photograph—destroyed the one that the Democrats had arranged so carefully. This one was taken by a newspaper photographer. The camera men had gone to the station to take photographs of Cardinal Mundelein, papal legate to the Eucharistic congress, as he departed for New Orleans. The photographers brought back a picture of Mayor Kelly and Cardinal Mundelein leaving together on the train.

Consternation and bewilderment beset Nash-Kelly and Horner ward leaders alike when they learned about the photographers' picture. It meant that half of their own carefully prepared tableau had been destroyed.

Arvey Goes to Work.

Acting Chairman Arvey thereupon made haste to repair the damage as well as he could. He announced that John R. Nash, son of Chairman Nash and assistant to the mayor, will be at the speaker's table and will read a letter from Mayor Kelly once more putting him squarely on the side of party regularity.

The luncheon is to be an official gathering. It is understood that all ward and township committeemen have been advised it will be well for them to attend and bring ten workers apiece with them. State and local candidates also will attend. Ald. Arvey will preside.

This luncheon is intended to signalize the opening of the Democratic campaign in Cook county. The election is three weeks from tomorrow and that makes this the latest start ever recorded by a major party in an important campaign since Chicago became a big city.

G. O. P. Works Without Letup.

The Republican state and Cook county organizations have been working almost without any letup ever since the April primary and the Horner organization downstate has been operating for almost a month in support of the state ticket.

Since the state candidates of both parties will follow the custom of years and continue campaigning downstate this week, reserving the final fortnight for Cook county, the full heat of the campaign will not open up here, except for a few blasts, until next week. The peace festival luncheon of the Democrats today was designed to convince downstate as well as Chicago that all the wounds of a springtime war have been healed.

With harmony in their ranks that they said has not been equaled in many years, the Republicans are not planning any similar demonstration of teamwork this week. Richard J. Lyons, nominee for United States senator, and his running mates will again put in a full week downstate, but the local organization work in their behalf will be doubled, it is said.

Political Eyesore

Political sign on utility pole in Cicero, in violation of law.

Ald. J. M. Arvey, acting chairman of the Cook county Democratic committee, announced yesterday that the organization will observe strictly the ordinance prohibiting the posting of political signs on poles, fences, dead walls, and similar places not licensed for use as billboards.

"Mayor Kelly has asked that the ordinance be observed," he told ward committeemen meeting in the Morrison hotel, "and Commissioner Allman has ordered the police department to enforce the law. We all admit that posters make the city unsightly and I'm inclined to believe they do a candidate more harm than good."

George A. Curran, chairman of a committee of Republican candidates, said efforts will be continued to have householders and storekeepers place in their windows the posters that the bill posters' union refuses to handle. They carry the slogan "Smash Kelly-Nash Boss Rule."

2 GIRLS REVEAL COMPANION SHOT SHERIF TO DEATH

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Col. Marvin B. Casteel, chief of the Missouri highway patrol, said tonight two girl companions of Albie C. Wright, 24 year old Oklahoman, had named him as the "shotgun slayer" of Sherif Hugh Owens of Nowata county, Okla., last Wednesday.

Col. Casteel said the girls, when they returned here from St. Francis, Ark., told of being with Wright, captured near here early today, and Leslie Cameron when the shooting occurred. Cameron still is at large.

The girls—Betty Jo Randolph, 15 years old, and Elenora Griggs, 19—are quoted as saying Wright fired a shotgun blast at the sherif after he had forced his way into Wright's home.

"The sherif screamed and staggered out and the other men with him took him to town," Col. Casteel said the girls told him. They added: "We ran out of the back door and got into the car. We've been on the go ever since."

Admits Theft of $3,800; Names Four Accomplices

Anthony Cantore, 716 Miller street, admitted to the Maxwell street police that he was one of five men who stole $3,800 on Sept. 17 from the home of Pasquale Daddio at 615 South Racine avenue. Daddio, who runs a candy store, distrusted banks and kept all his savings in a trunk. The four accomplices named by Cantore are being sought by the police.

S. D. TURNS BACK TO G. O. P. AFTER SOCIALISTIC WOE

Profits from Its Lessons on State Business.

BY LLOYD WENDT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mitchell, S. D., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Republicans campaigning in South Dakota are pointing with telling effect to this state's ill-fated attempts to engage in business. They are citing the terrific losses of state socialism in general and of the South Dakota rural credits experiment in particular. They are charging that the Roosevelt administration's experiments of government in business will result in similar losses—and on a greater scale.

The Republicans are driving these points home to farmer-voters who shudder at the very mention of rural credits. They are confident of winning at the polls Nov. 8.

Experiment Costs Millions.

How many millions the tax payers of South Dakota will have to dig up to liquidate the rural credits losses no one knows. The deficit now stands on the books at $39,046,907—and this in a state where a million dollars is a lot of money. State Treasurer W. H. Hinselman has estimated that the deficit will mount to $60,000,000.

In 1917 South Dakota farmers, especially in the country west of the Missouri river, had trouble getting loans. Politicians told them that the state, which could borrow money at 4½ per cent, ought to borrow the money and loan it to the farmer, adding a half per cent interest charge for the service.

The legislature appropriated $200,000 to establish a rural credits system. The state proposed to make loans from five to thirty years for buying land, equipment, fertilizers and live stock, buildings and improvements, and to liquidate existing indebtedness of the landowner. The loans were not to exceed $10,000 to any one individual, or 70 per cent of the appraised value of the land.

Collapses When Prices Fall.

The experiment began losing money from the first. The service charge made on the loans was too small to care for the actual overhead. In addition, the loans were made at top land valuations during a war boom period. When land prices fell, rural credits had to collapse.

Worse than this, rural credits provided the finest political football South Dakota had ever seen. It established a burocracy which could and did use favoritism in making loans and in placing rural credits money in certain banks. More than $1,000,000 was lost when some of these favored banks closed. A. W. Ewert of Pierre, treasurer of the rural credits board, went to prison for eleven years for embezzling some of its funds.

Farmers Quit Paying.

When you make a loan the time comes when you expect to collect. Not so with rural credits. One candidate for governor promised that no loans would be foreclosed while he was in office. Naturally he got into office, and naturally, the farmers quit paying on their loans. Auditors later found that not a single payment was made on $2,528,500 worth of loans during a four year period.

Finally the entire mess had to come into the open. Legislative investigation revealed losses which were staggering to a population that had not yet become inured to the astronomical figures of national New Dealism. The state undertook to pay.

Taxes Rise Rapidly.

New borrowings were made at 6½ per cent. A million dollar annual levy was added to the already heavy tax load. Other sinking funds were looted for money to pay off some rural credits obligations. Half of the gas tax money was taken. Finally, a gross income tax was slapped on, which levied a toll on everything bought and sold in the state. Much later the state managed to borrow $3,884,737 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The plan which originally had been devised to aid farmers by extending liberal credit was ruining them through increased taxation.

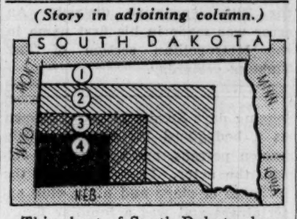
In 1932 it was announced that 6,425,000 acres of land had been offered for sale to satisfy delinquent taxes. So much land was retired from the tax rolls when rural credits finally did foreclose that it became a handicap to own land.

This home made disaster, tied on to successive crop failures, put South Dakota in desperate straits. During the first and second Roosevelt campaigns the farm folk, like the rest of the country, were ready to listen to any promises of relief. Democratic blandishments were effective and they plumped for Roosevelt.

Everybody agrees that South Dakota got a lot of money out of the New Deal in Washington. It couldn't have come at a better time. But, now they're beginning to think about who is going to pay for it.

Result of Socialism

(Story in adjoining column.)



This chart of South Dakota shows the results of socialistic experiment in state farm credit plan instituted immediately after the world war. Of the total area of the state (1), 49,673,000 acres, total farm land in 1932 was 36,862,972 acres (2). Of this, 14,645,824 acres (3) were under cultivation. In the same year 6,425,000 acres (4) were offered for sale for taxes.

PENSIONS ISSUE IN SPOTLIGHT AS LURE FOR VOTES

Politicians Capitalizing on Hopes of Aged.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Old age pensions, the newest football of politics, constitute one of the most important factors in the current state and congressional elections. The old age pension vote is being exploited in the same manner as the relief vote.

The Townsend old age pension plan has experienced a striking renascence. Following the short shrift given it by the Seventy-fifth congress and the indictment of Dr. Townsend for contempt of the house, the project, despite President Roosevelt's pardon of the doctor at the instance of alarmed Democratic house leaders, was given up for dead.

Townsend Plan Modified.

The original scheme to pay the aged $200 a month is dead, it appears, but from its ashes has arisen a modified proposal known as the "general welfare" bill. This provides for the original 2 per cent tax on all business transactions, but does not fix the amount of the pension, which is to be the amount of the revenue, less expenses, divided by the number of pensioners.

The pension might be $30 or $50 or $100 a month, in no case more than $200 a month. The pensioner would be required to expend each month the entire pension received. This revolving expenditure is designed to stimulate business and thereby produce permanent prosperity.

Though pronounced by orthodox economists, a harebrained scheme to lift yourself by your bootstraps, the Townsend plan is now going stronger than ever. An overwhelming majority of the candidates for house and senate have found it politically expedient to commend themselves in one way or another to the favor of the Townsendites.

Of the candidates who have pledged themselves to vote for the Townsend plan in its new manifestation the overwhelming majority are Democrats. Most of the Republican candidates have gone no farther than to pledge themselves to bring the proposal to a vote without committing themselves to vote for it. The Republican platform in Massachusetts declared in favor of a study of the Townsend plan.

Issue in Many States.

Notwithstanding their noncommittal attitude, the Republicans, to a conspicuous degree, are receiving the indorsement of the Townsend organization. The Townsendites, it appears, have lost confidence in the Democrats, who have failed to bring the plan to a vote in either house of congress, as the Republicans are now promising to do.

In sixteen states state old age pension proposals are issues in the election. Most novel is the California scheme to pay $30 every Thursday in scrip redeemable in dollars to every Californian over 60. It was condemnation of this scheme as ruinous to California that is reputed to have beaten Senator William G. McAdoo [D., Cal.] for renomination. In the election the advocates of the plan are supporting the Democratic candidates, its opponents the Republican candidates.

In North Dakota Gov. William Langer is running as an independent candidate for senator on a platform promising a $40 a month old age pension. In Nebraska former Gov. Charles W. Bryan is an independent candidate for governor promising a $30 a month pension. In South Dakota the Democratic candidates have joined in a slogan: "Fifty after sixty." In Washington and numerous other states the old age pensioners are leagued in pressure groups to get their allowance increased.

To offset the political menace of resurgent Townsendism, inuring to the benefit of Republicans, the Roosevent administration has initiated a movement to expand the existing old age pension system. It has started the ball rolling for legislation raising the federal contribution from the present maximum of $15 a month to $20 and reducing the eligible age from 65 to 60. That would add nearly one million persons to the 1,700,000 aged now on the rolls. The administration also proposes to make agricultural and domestic workers eligible to old age annuities.

In Missouri the Democratic machine loaded the pension rolls with ineligibles. The social security board protested. Now the pension rolls are being purged.

INTEREST COMPOUNDED

By CALEB

ONE DAY I paused, intrigued, to watch the head of one of our departments as he surveyed a shelf and showcase in minute detail. Apparently nothing escaped his keen-eyed scrutiny. The inspection completed, he became aware of my presence and we began a conversation.

At the outset I intended moving on shortly about my business, for, I said to myself, no great matter of conversation will come out of this meeting with a busy man. But I was wrong—how very wrong I realized when the closing signal at half past five found me listening and interested at the end of a long hour's absorbing talk.

As we talked of the department I began to catch the vague outlines of a picture so real and vivid to my friend that my interest, too, was enlisted. His interest in the subject—so intense and informed—transmitted itself inevitably to his listener. It was impossible to attend what he said without sensing the completeness of his knowledge and interest. The moments slipped by, and the obvious, superficial things that I had known were smothered under a deluge of facts.

This experience I have had frequently since then. I have seldom seen a group more completely immersed in their work than those men and women responsible for the various departments in our store. They not only know the facts about their department and their merchandise—they live them. "No normal working week encompasses their interest and effort," I told myself. "Barring the hours in which they sleep, this thing must always be with them—and even then, I believe they must ponder subconsciously the answers to the day's questions."

Such intense interest is the main reason for their presence here. It is a thing common, I have observed, to most successful people—no matter in what pursuit they may be engaged. In the laboratory, the operating room, the court of law, the classroom, the shop, on the farm, the football field, in the pulpit and the home—intense interest and absorption in the job distinguish those who excel.

I do not know from whence these merchandise men of ours derive their motivations. I only know that it is there—and is one of the most vital forces in this business. It goes far towards explaining such public acceptance as this store has enjoyed through its long history.

SLAYER OF WIFE'S SWEETHEART TO FACE TRIAL TODAY

Margaret Sikora to Take Stand for the State.

Judge James Fardy.

Rudolph Sikora, young dispatcher's clerk charged with murdering his wife's lover, will go on trial today in the Criminal court of Judge James Fardy before a jury qualified for the death penalty.

Since Aug. 22, when Sikora, torn by jealousy, ambushed and killed Edward Solomon, an urbane accountant of 35, the case has transcended the ordinary bounds of love triangles. This has been due to the unrelenting attitude of the wife Margaret, who has scorned to aid her husband and has deigned to see him only once or twice.

Will Take Stand Against Him.

As a culmination of this strange attitude she will take the stand this week as a state's witness to testify against him.

Thus, for the first time in an important criminal trial in Illinois in which a love triangle has figured, the jury will get the story first hand both from the woman whose changing love caused the murder and from the slayer.

Ordinarily in the past a wife could not give testimony damaging to her husband, even if she felt the inclination, which was rarely. But under a state law enacted in 1937 she can testify for or against him on material issues.

Sikora is 31, dark and slender. His wife, 22 and pretty in a narrow-eyed, pouty way, had worked as secretary beside Solomon for four years. At the time of the murder she and her husband were separated. She had asked him for a divorce.

Shot Five Times on Street.

Solomon, a tall, dark bachelor with an appearance of culture and erudition, was buying a newspaper on his way to work the morning of Aug. 22 when Sikora, hidden in an automobile at Clark street and Winnemac avenue, stepped out and shot him five times with a target pistol. He then waited for the police.

Defense Attorney W. W. Smith indicated that Sikora's practical defense will be the unwritten law. His legal defense, it was indicated, will be temporary emotional insanity.

Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis will be in charge of the prosecution.

Margaret's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Boehme of 7809 Elm Grove avenue, Elmwood Park, will bolster Sikora's defense. She is expected to testify that she tried to help her son-in-law break up her daughter's clandestine affair.

FIND DROWNING VICTIM'S BODY.

The body of Philip Hanusczewski, 27 years old, 8540 Burnham avenue, a WPA worker who drowned Saturday in the lake off 96th street, was recovered yesterday by the coast guard.

PAROLE AGENTS HOODWINKED BY TWO ROBBERS

How Fred Booth and John Walker, paroled convicts, hoodwinked parole supervisors while they rode around in a stolen automobile and robbed nearly a hundred chain groceries, was related yesterday. The pair, who had a sawed off shotgun and a pistol in the car with them, were arrested Saturday at Leland and Magnolia avenues. They confessed the holdups a little later.

T. P. Sullivan, superintendent of supervision of parolees, said that Booth behaved well for a year after his release from Joliet penitentiary [in June, 1937], and was permitted last summer to reside in Niles, Mich. Michigan authorities agreed under a reciprocity arrangement to supervise him.

Records on Walker were not available, but Sullivan said he believed the second robber parolee was also permitted to live in Michigan. The police theory is that after each robbery expedition the pair fled back to Michigan.

ARTHUR BREAKS UP A PARTY AND SOME FURNITURE

Arthur Dulec, a steamfitter, will be arraigned today in the South Chicago court and asked to explain why he smashed five dinner plates, tore up two dresses, and kicked in the lower panel of a venerable grandfather clock. All these things were the property of a school teacher.

Dulec's temperamental display took place Saturday night in the apartment of the teacher, Mrs. Mary Wright, 35 years old, 8552 Bennett avenue. She was entertaining half a dozen friends, among them Dulec. He is 36 and lives at 6977 Anthony avenue.

According to police, Dulec and Mrs. Wright quarreled, and then he went into action. Policemen Louis Kuzanek and John Kullen of the South Chicago station seized him shortly afterward. Mrs. Wright signed a complaint charging him with malicious mischief. At last reports last night Dulec was repentant and anxious to pay for the damage he caused.

Romance Begins in Chicago.

The Etting-Snyder romance started in the early 20's when she was a chorus girl working in Ed Beck's Marigold garden revue in Chicago. Miss Etting had come to Chicago from David City, Neb., in 1917 to get an art education.

To earn money for her education she took the chorus job and as a sideline designed costumes for the show. Later, she went to work for a Chicago loop costume designer, continuing her chorus work. Her singing and dancing was improving and she met Snyder, who then was married and the father of a child.

Snyder was a product of what was known in Chicago as "The Valley." He was a political follower of Dennis Egan, Democratic political leader and he had a few small political jobs. One of his intimates at the time was Albert Prignano, Egan's secretary who later became a state representative and ward boss until he was murdered.

At various times in the early bootlegging days Snyder also was known as a bodyguard for several widely known persons, among them Al Jolson, the actor. Snyder became the intimate of stage and night club entertainers and was a familiar figure around Chicago's night spots.

Wed at Crown Point.

In 1922 Snyder obtained a divorce from his first wife and a few months later Miss Etting, who was becoming well known in entertainment circles, announced she and Snyder had been married in Crown Point, Ind.

Snyder, she said at the time, was employed in a clerical position. He soon became her manager and the next year she was the star of a revue in Chicago Rainbo Gardens. She also had her own costume shop in the Chicago theater district.

Miss Etting's voice made a hit with night club crowds and she began to command top salary. Prohibition was on and the night clubs were prospering. She never was idle. Radio took her up and she once was the highest priced singer on the air.

Ziegfeld starred Miss Etting in Simple Simon in 1930 and she went from the stage to pictures. One of her last big starring successes was a revue in London in 1936. She has been living in Hollywood since she divorced Snyder a year ago for cruelty.

DIES IN BURNING HOME.

Lincoln, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—William Neylon, 62 years old, a WPA worker, was found dead in his home early today by firemen who had been called to put out a fire. Apparently Neylon had set fire to the bed clothing with a cigaret.

SETS HOME AFIRE TO BURN SELF UP; POLICE ROUT HIM

On a spree early yesterday, Martin Zilso, 59 years old, a laborer, locked himself in his little house in the rear of 8412 Burley avenue, and threatened to burn it up. Miss Mary Jastozembowski, 25, daughter of the owners, who live in front, called South Chicago police and the fire department. Zilso brandished a meat cleaver and refused to surrender. For good measure he lighted a piece of paper and threw it out on the porch. By this time bureau squads arrived, and threatened to drive him out with tear gas bombs. Zilso then surrendered. Firemen put out a minor porch fire resulting from the burning paper.

VITAL RAIL LINE TO CANTON CUT BY JAPANESE DRIVE

Chinese Defenders Begin to Show New Strength.

HONGKONG, Oct. 17 [Monday.]—(AP)—Japanese troops driving against Canton, South China's chief city, were reported to have reached the Canton-Kowloon [Hongkong] railway early today. Telephone communications between Canton and this British crown colony were suspended completely.

Reliable quarters said the invaders advanced to the vital rail line at a point fifteen miles north of the Hongkong border. This column had landed at Bias bay, thirty-five miles northeast of Hongkong, last Wednesday. It struck westward, captured Tamshui, then advanced to the railroad.

The Japanese said a second column which occupied Waichow, about eighty miles east of Canton, on Saturday had crossed the East river aided by planes and naval guns and was striking toward Canton along the north bank.

Japs Land More Troops.

Poklohsien, a town eight miles west of Waichow, was the Japanese's next objective. Chinese said strongly entrenched defenders in the mountains were resisting the invaders.

Neutral observers, however, saw indications that the invasion of Kwangtung, China's richest and strongest province, was losing some of its initial momentum. Chinese defenses were reported growing stronger by the hour.

Additional Japanese reënforcements from Formosa were reported arriving at Bias bay, an old pirates' lair.

Reports indicated that the garrison town of Waichow and its suburbs were burning after a fierce aerial bombardment and that the Japanese force pushing toward Poklohsien and Tsengshing later would drive toward Sheklung, which is on the Canton-Kowloon railroad at the head of a maze of waterways serving Canton.

Operate on River Delta.

Besides the Waichow front, the Japanese were attacking at least three other important points:

1. A Japanese detachment which landed on the west bank of the Pearl [Canton] river delta was reported to have cut communications between Macao, the Portuguese colony, and Canton.

2. Another detachment which landed on the east bank of the delta about ten miles north of Hongkong was pushing inland.

Thus Canton, the gateway for foreign arms for China's armies, already was isolated from the coast except for a few shallow channels of the delta.

Japanese warplanes swarmed over the Kwangtung countryside inflicting damage on property and peppering troop concentrations with bombs and machine gun bullets. The planes maintained a constant bombardment of trains and bridges on the Canton-Kowloon railway. Japanese said there were no Chinese planes in the air to resist them.

Navy Gains On Yangtze.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Japanese announced tonight their combined army and navy drive up the Yangtze river had carried the Rising Sun banner within 60 miles airline of their tri-cities goal, Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang.

Japanese advices from the Yangtze front described a day of furious fighting in which the invaders were reported to have occupied Shihhweiyao. Shihhweiyao, 60 miles by air from Hankow, is on the south bank of the Yangtze.

Japanese said the victory enabled them to pierce the so-called secondary line of the Hankow defenses.

Southeast of Shihhweiyao, along the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway, Japanese reported they had routed 6,000 Chinese defenders of Teian, partially removing the long standing barrier to the planned advance on Nanchang.

North of the Yangtze, the Japanese air force was engaged in widespread bombing raids throughout southwestern Honan province and eastern Hupeh. Flyers reported they had damaged Chinese troop positions heavily and attacked fifty trains south of Sinyang on the Peking-Hankow railway. Sinyang is 100 miles north of Hankow and both north and south of that point the Japanese were moving in an offense against the Chinese.

Japs Cut Canton's Link to Hongkong

Japanese troops today reached the Canton-Kowloon railway and cut Canton's communications with Hongkong. Another column (indicated by heavy arrow) drove along the Swatow road toward Canton. Two landing parties were fighting inland from opposite sides of the Canton river delta. The British crown colony of Hongkong is indicated by diagonal shading.

REBEL POWER WANES IN EBRO RIVER DRIVE; ATTACKS ARE HALTED

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Oct. 16.—(AP)—Spanish government dispatches declared today rebel attacks have been halted on the Ebro river front in eastern Spain.

The government said recent fighting along the Ebro had shown for the first time the "net strategic tactical superiority" of its forces.

"This superiority," a communique said, "increases in the same degree as the republicans [government troops] succeed in reducing to a minimum their adversary's heavy and medium artillery by a mobile defense."

Bombs Peril British Warship.

VALENCIA, Spain, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Five war planes dropped bombs today within thirty yards of the British destroyer Imperial, anchored a half mile outside Gandia, British operated port on Spain's Mediterranean coast. The decks of the destroyer were sprayed with bomb splinters, but no one was injured. Spanish rebel authorities at Palma, air base on Mallorca island, were said to have apologized to British officials for the incident.

FASCISTS BLAME BARUCH FOR RIFT OF NAZIS, BRAZIL

ROME, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The recall of the ambassadors of Germany and Brazil was labeled the work of Bernard Baruch, the American financier, in the controled Fascist press today. The papers carried various articles on the subject, but in similar language, all under a Berlin date line.

Il Régime Fascista of Cremona referred to him as "president" of the United States and as the man who controls a "majority . . . directly or indirectly" in the United States.

The paper said it was Baruch and his friends who had induced Brazil to recall her own ambassador from Berlin and to ask that Berlin not return the German ambassador, Karl Ritter, to Rio de Janeiro. Gazzetta del Popolo, La Stampa of Turin, Popolo di Roma, and Il Messaggero carried similar articles.

Five Die as Hospital Plane Strikes Peak in Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Five persons were killed today in northern Sweden when a military hospital plane crashed against a mountain at Soderfors in a dense fog. The dead included the pilot, an engineer, a physician, a nurse, and a woman patient who was being removed to a hospital.

FIND TAVERN OWNER DEAD.

Irwin Klein, 29 years old, a tavern owner, was found dead yesterday in a garage in the rear of 212 North Hamlin avenue. Auto fumes supposedly caused his death. Klein lived at 1335 South Central Park avenue.

MAKE RICHES OF CHURCH WORK FOR POOR, HITLER AIM

Paper Hints State May Take Properties.

VIENNA, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The Vienna edition of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter raised the question today of "millions of marks' worth of Roman Catholic church property in Austria which "it does not seem easy to socialize and in some way make useful to the community." [The mark is valued at 40 cents.]

The newspaper in a full page attack said foundations and cloisters hold more property than "any layman, even more than the state."

Its title was "Rich Churches—Poor People" and the occasion was street collection day for the Nazi party's winter relief fund.

Coincident with the Nazi-Catholic differences, which flared into a Nazi attack Oct. 8 against the palace of Cardinal Theodore Innitzer and slight wounding of the cardinal, there has been a new wave of anti-Semitism against the 220,000 Jews who still remain in Vienna.

Wreck Interior of Synagogue.

Windows in 20 buildings—synagogues, private lwellings and some stores operated by Jews — were smashed in the past two nights. The interior of one small synagogue was demolished last night.

Hitler's newspaper said that through the winter relief fund "the German people are fulfilling God's words which say: Feed the hungry, warm the cold, clothe the naked.

"How much more help could be given if those who recite these words in prayer would do something positive.

"What possibilities, what means stand at their disposition!

Says Poor Are Neglected.

"On one side are these millions worth of dead and highly lively capital in jewels, cloisters and castles, in land and richly productive factories, and on the other side in church dioceses are hundreds of thousands who are cold and hungry, poor and needy, for whom the church and priests do nothing.

"Absolutely nothing? O yes, they pray and beg for them. In showy palaces and proud strongholds live the earthly managers of divine property who draw from their business enterprises rich rewards."

The article said the church had known how" to "hold and increase" its holdings throughout the centuries while "princely landholders of the feudal period had to suffer property changes and land divisions brought about by liberalism and capitalism."

St. Stephen's cathedral was filled all morning with worshipers but no mention was made in the customary 9:30 a. m. sermon of Nazi attacks against the church.

However, there were Catholic demonstrations in three districts of Vienna. Congregations assembled on the sidewalks and sang hymns until police dispersed them.

JUGO-SLAV PREMIER PRAISES FRIENDSHIP TIES WITH DICTATORS

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Premier Milan Stoyadinovitch stressed the financial and political stability of his country and the wisdom of his foreign policy in an election speech tonight.

Premier Stoyadinovitch.

Alluding to Czechoslovakia and her dismemberment, he said, "We have seen how the foreign policy of that country is now going the same way which we already had chosen one or two years ago. Nothing can better justify our foreign policy than recent events."

[Jugo-Slavia has pursued a policy of friendship with Italy and Germany, while Czechoslovakia maintained defensive alliances with France and Russia.]

MADONNA RITE CALLED OFF BY VIENNA CHURCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, Oct. 16.—Cardinal Theodore Innitzer, whose palace was stormed by Nazis on Oct. 8, today celebrated the eighth anniversary of his consecration as archbishop of Vienna. However, the annual three day veneration of the famous Maria Poetsch Madonna which usually takes place on Friday, Saturday and Sunday in mid-October was canceled.

It has been customary for the cardinal to lead the procession from the Karl church to St. Stephen's cathedral. The madonna—whose eyes are reputed to weep genuine tears—was brought to the St. Stephen's church over 250 years ago from Poetsch, Hungary.

This madonna is a great favorite with the Viennese Catholics and many were disappointed that they had to substitute private worship for the customary public demonstration.

ALL-SLAV STATE BORN IN RUINS OF CZECH REPUBLIC

First Maps of Carved Up Nation Show Losses.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 16.—The first maps of new Czechoslovakia have appeared for sale on news stands here. They are posted in windows of newspaper offices, where they are eagerly scrutinized by crowds reconciled to living inside an all-Slav state with smaller territory than two weeks ago.

These maps still are only provisional, but they reveal the worst—loss of rich industrial areas in two western provinces, Bohemia and Moravia, to Germany. Seven colors are used. New Czechoslovakia is in white. Two colors indicate the area now occupied by the Germans and the area where Germany intended to hold plebiscites—showing the maps were made before it was decided there would be no plebiscites in the territory claimed by Germany.

Teschen Area Shown.

Two more colors show the Teschen region—one color the territory occupied by Poland and another where a plebiscite probably is to be held. Two more colors show the fringe of southern Slovakia and Ruthenia [sub-Carpathian Russia]—one color for the part which is conceded as a legitimate Hungarian claim and another for the territory in which Hungary is demanding a plebiscite.

There is no doubt that every one here wants the Hungarian-Czechoslovak problem to be settled as soon as possible in order that the limits of the new state be fixed and that Czechoslovakia will know exactly what territory, population, and resources she has at her disposal.

Hopes are high that Germany will support Czechoslovakia against Hungary. If the extreme Hungarian claims are allowed all Czechoslovakia will have left in the eastern provinces will be some magnificent Carpathian scenery, excellent hunting preserves, and some watering places.

New Constitution Written.

Without waiting for settlement of the boundaries question the government is proceeding to reorganize the country. For practical purposes a new constitution already has been written, making Czechoslovakia a republic of three states joined in a federal union with the central government at Prague.

The westernmost state is Czech, consisting of what remains of the "historic lands" of Bohemia and Moravia. The second state is Slovakia and the third is Ruthenia.

John Stone, 80, English Clown, Hangs Himself

PARIS, Oct. 16.—(AP)—John Stone, English clown famed for thirty years in both England and France, hanged himself yesterday in a public park of suburban Le Vallois. He was 80 years old. Stone returned briefly to the limelight last summer when Queen Elizabeth of England, inspecting the British hospital in Paris during her state visit with King George VI., was photographed at his bedside.

Ukrainian Protest

Catherine Skoczylos dressed in native costume to take part in Ukrainian rally protesting Polish confiscation of churches.

More than 5,000 of Chicago's 50,000 Ukrainians rallied yesterday to protest the Polish government's destruction or confiscation of Orthodox and Greek Catholic churches in the Ukrainian district of Poland. The meeting was held in the St. Nicholas church field at Rice and Leavitt streets after a mass commemorating the movement for an independent Ukraine state.

Attorney Roman I. Smook presented a resolution demanding the right of self determination for Ukrainians in Europe. The demand will be sent in the name of a million American Ukrainians to the governments of the United States, Great Britain, France, and Germany. The movement would separate minority groups from Poland, Russia, Rumania, and Czechoslovakia and unite them in a Ukraine state.

NAZIS JAIL LABOR LEADERS IN NEW WAVE OF UNREST

Cut in Butter Rations Angers Lower Classes.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—A number of former labor leaders have been arrested on charges of "agitating against the Nazi government," it was disclosed today. Because of a reduction in the weekly butter ration to slightly less than six ounces, a new wave of unrest has begun among the lower classes of Germany.

News of the arrest of the labor leaders became public as Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering appealed to all German workers to "cheerfully devote all their strength and initiative to the new great tasks which now lie ahead of us." The appeal was made in an article published in his monthly periodical, the Four Year Plan. Goering is in charge of the four year plan for economic independence.

Praises German Strength.

Thanking the German people for their unity and unswerving support of Reichsfuehrer Hitler "in the weeks whose dramatic happenings held the world in highest tension," Goering added that "we are proud that the internal strength of the nation held good in these grave days."

"Simultaneously there was confirmed the correctness of the Nazi policy which feared no sacrifice and no effort to make the people and country militarily capable and strong," he said.

"We begin this new era of peaceful creation conscious of new friendship with the Italians and their inspired Duce [Mussolini] and with the aim of continuing and more closely shaping coöperation with other nations. The nations can devote themselves to the fulfilment of their own vital tasks in the spirit of honest understanding and sincere coöperation. The meaning of these tasks is not war but peace, which assures the well being of the people by tireless labor in cultural, social and economic spheres."

Says Hitler Saved Europe.

Thanking Hitler for initiating "this new epoch," Goering said that "his love of peace has preserved Europe from the terrors of a new war."

"The statesmen gathered in Munich fulfilled the longing for peace of their countries and, clearly recognizing their great responsibility, they achieved a victory for truth and justice," he said.

"The spirit of Versailles is finally vanquished through the spirit of Munich. For the second time in this memorable year he [Hitler] has without the stroke of a sword incorporated old German cultural territories into the reich—Austria in the spring and Sudetenland in the autumn."

BRITISH PLAN TO ATTACH BOHEMIA TO POLAND TOLD

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(AP)—David Lloyd George disclosed today in his latest book, "The Truth About the Peace Treaties," that the British foreign office drew up a memorandum in 1916 proposing that Bohemia should be attached to a recreated kingdom of Poland. The wartime British premier related the memorandum was based on the assumption of either a victory by the allied powers against Germany or a stalemate in the world war.

DE VALERA WARNS BRITAIN IRELAND MUST BE UNITED

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland, Oct. 16.—(AP)—More than 2,000 persons demonstrating in this border city tonight against the partition of Ireland received encouragement from Premier Eamon De Valera who warned Britain against the "unnatural division of our country."

Premier De Valera, who 16 years ago was arrested outside the hall where the meeting was held tonight, declared in a statement sent by special messenger that "so long as partition lasts the mutual good will between the people of the two islands cannot be secured."

The issue of "self-determination" for the minority within northern Ireland that wants union with Ireland, has been raised by De Valera since German annexation of the Sudeten area of Czechoslovakia.

192 Dead, 200 Missing as Typhoon Hits South Japan

TOKIO, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Kagoshima prefectural police reported tonight 192 persons were dead and 200 missing in the wake of a typhoon which swept over Kiushiu Island, the southernmost of the principal islands of Japan. Damage was heavy with 244 buildings destroyed and 85 ships wrecked or missing. One hundred and fifty roads were cut, the police announced, and 6,723 domestic animals killed. The island had been swept by high winds and rain since Friday.

PRE-MARRIAGE EXAMINATIONS
With separate departments for men and women, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make the medical tests which the law requires every couple to have before a marriage license can be obtained. A thorough physical examination, including all necessary laboratory tests, costs $3.00 per person. Those examined before 2 P.M. (at 159 or 169 N. Dearborn St.) can have certificates same day.

"AM I REALLY CURED?"

You can't tell if you are rid of the germs of gonorrhea or syphilis without tests of cure from this clinic or some other reliable doctor!

SELF TREATMENT for a venereal disease may speedily relieve your symptoms and cause you to feel as well as you ever did. But you have no proof whatever that all of the germs have been driven out of your system and that you are entirely non-infectious!

That is why treating yourself for gonorrhea or syphilis is such a reckless thing to do. It gives you an utterly false sense of security, because some of the germs are likely to remain in your body and lead to serious trouble months or even years later.

No reliable physician or clinic ever pronounces a venereal disease sufferer cured until certain laboratory tests and physical examinations have been passed. For unless there is definite proof that the last germ has been killed, some very disastrous consequences may easily occur!

Uncured gonorrhea, for example, has long been the leading cause of blindness among newly-born babies, and often results in sterility, crippling rheumatism, or serious prostate, bladder and other troubles. Uncured syphilis is responsible for the majority of stillborn, deformed and feeble-minded infants, and frequently leads to heart disease, blindness, paralysis, nervous breakdowns and even insanity!

Obtain proof of cure!

Remember, the mere disappearance of symptoms does not necessarily mean that you are free from disease. So, if you have been treating yourself for gonorrhea or syphilis, do not delay in getting the tests of cure required to prove that you are non-infectious. Such tests can be obtained from the competent physicians of the Public Health Institute or a capable private doctor.

The Public Health Institute is unusually painstaking in carrying out its tests of cure. It will not give a patient a clean bill of health until the most rigid laboratory tests and physical examinations have been made. Thus any person discharged as cured by the Public Health Institute can be confident that he or she is no longer infectious.

One of the largest clinics of its kind in the world, the Public Health Institute has been specializing in venereal infections ever since 1920. To date it has given over 5,000,000 examinations and treatments to more than 250,000 individual patients!

No one is turned away

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute puts specialized venereal disease attention within the reach of those with limited incomes. A thorough physical examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including blood tests, urinalysis and gonorrheal smears, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less.

Hence there is no need for any venereal disease victim who has treated himself to be deprived of tests of cure. For not only can a thorough examination be obtained inexpensively, but even those temporarily short of funds will not be turned away!

BRITISH LAUNCH NEW DRIVE TO END PALESTINE STRIFE

Battle Arab Snipers on Old Walls of Jerusalem.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Great Britain launched a forceful new campaign today to break Arab resistance to her rule in Palestine.

It was started by Sir Harold Alfred MacMichael, high commissioner for Transjordan and commander in chief in Palestine, immediately after his arrival by airplane in the Holy Land from London.

The new measures were based on the high commissioner's conferences in England with Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald.

Sir Harold was faced with abundant evidence of persistent death and terror which has inflamed Palestine since the ambushing of a bus began a reign of bloodshed last July 5.

Curfew in Jerusalem.

Jerusalem itself remained in a highly nervous state because large numbers of Arabs were using its ancient walls as ramparts for sniping. A 24 hour curfew was imposed in the old city of Jerusalem, beginning at 7 p. m. tonight.

In Jerusalem's old city a bomb wounded a policeman resulting in a gun battle in which two other persons were wounded. Another bomb exploded within the sacred precincts of Omar's mosque injuring several Arabs and giving rise to angry rumors that the British or Jews were trying to damage Islam's third holiest shrine.

The 800 mile oil pipeline from Iraq to the Mediterranean coast was cut again last night in the same vicinity where recent repeated attacks have been made. Flaming oil lighted the countryside but quick repairs were made. The pipeline is controled by the Iraq Petroleum company in which Americans own a one-third interest.

Troops Fight Two Battles.

British troops fought two small Arab bands in separate battles last night. They were reported to have killed six men and captured two others.

Employés of the Jerusalem Electric company, endangered by snipers' bullets, worked today repairing cut power lines.

The crusader town of Ramleh was placed under curfew again when an attempt was made to kill a British police officer. About 300 of the town's Arab inhabitants were taken to military headquarters at Sarafind for questioning.

NATION'S PLANE CAPACITY RATED AT 1,000 A MONTH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—High administration officials say they are confident that American manufacturers could match Germany's huge output of warplanes in quantity and exceed it in quality.

This expression of opinion was evoked by President Roosevelt's recent announcement that mass production of planes was included in the government's current restudy of national defense needs.

No indication has been given that the administration is considering undertaking to match Germany's plane production, but the war department particularly is concerned with knowing whether it could be done.

Germany's recent output is a yardstick, as it is accepted officially as probably the world's largest.

To match the production of the mobilized Nazi plants, officials say they believe the United States would have to turn out 1,000 planes a month. The rate now is only a third of that, though it has been stepped up materially in recent months under the stimulus of foreign orders.

ITALY NABS JEWS AS ANTI-FASCIST SOCIETY MEMBERS

ROME, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The government tonight announced the arrest of a "small number" of Jews belonging to "anti-Fascist cells." They were held for trial by a special tribunal created several years ago to handle such cases.

The announcement said the OVRA [secret police] discovered at the end of the summer that anti-Fascist activity centered in two northern cities.

The official communique said Prof. Eugenio Colorni, a Trieste Jew who was arrested, confessed heading the "celis." The communique said he maintained political relations with Jews both in Italy and abroad. Other Jews arrested included a former liberal party deputy, Dino Philipson of Florence, who was described in Fascist quarters as a "rich Jew connected with the Rothschild family."

Arrives in Palestine

4 DEATHS ON RAIL CROSSING AROUSE NORWOOD PARK

Citizens Demand Viaduct at Harlem Avenue.

The death of four persons at a railroad crossing where ten other persons have been killed since 1924, brought an immediate outcry yesterday from residents of the Norwood Park district. They planned a massmeeting to protest against the failure of the North Western railroad to elevate its tracks at the Harlem avenue crossing, where the tragedies have occurred.

Yesterday's victims, two men and two women, were riding in an automobile which was struck by the railroad's Madison Flyer. Only one of them was identified. He was George Smith, 33 years old, 1910 Dewey avenue, Evanston. All were colored.

Vincent Rosanova, the gateman at the crossing, said the driver disregarded his signal to halt. Witnesses said the crack train was traveling fifty or sixty miles an hour. It carried the wreckage of the automobile a half mile.

Patience at an End.

"Our patience is at an end," said Arthur E. Rex, chairman of the safety committee of the Norwood Park Citizens' association. "These killings, averaging one every year at the same crossing, must be stopped by track elevation. There is no other way to assure safety on a crowded highway like Harlem avenue."

Rex said that in 1931 the railroad was to have begun elevating its tracks between Bryn Mawr and Ozark avenues, which is the only unelevated portion of the North Western system remaining on the northwest side. The railroad won an extension of time from the city council, but the work was to have been done by 1937, Rex said.

Meeting to Demand It.

"The railroad insists it cannot spend $3,000,000 for the project," he said, "but at a massmeeting this week our citizens will demand that it be done regardless of cost. A new high school for 1,800 students is being built here because of increased population."

About three years ago Harlem avenue was widened and was depressed on either side of the North Western tracks to fit in with the track elevation plans. Motorists must thus go up an incline. This increases the danger of accident, Rex said.

Ald. William J. Cowhey [41st] said the city was trying to get a WPA project to aid in elevating the tracks.

Mrs. Mita Weith, 62 years old, was killed when two cars collided at Joliet road and 47th street near Lyons. She lived at 5634 Warwick avenue. Seven other persons, three of them colored, were injured in the crash.

Killed by Automobile.

John Moriarity, 55 years old, 812 Wilson avenue, was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile at Wilson avenue and Hazel street. Joseph Prato, 321 North Central avenue, was the driver.

John Nuisner, 24 years old, of Oak Lawn, was killed when he lost control of his car and it plunged into a ditch at 87th and Richmond streets.

David Qualey, 33 years old, was killed when his car crashed into a steel light post in Exchange avenue at 83d street. He lived at 3103 East 79th street.

Miss Elsie Sachs, 24 years old, who was found unconscious in Jackson park Saturday night, told police yesterday she had been struck by the car of a hit and run driver. She lives at 6811 Paxton avenue. After treatment at the County hospital she returned home.

Victim Dies of Injuries.

Peter Panello, 53 years old, 4746 Fifth avenue, died in the Frances Willard hospital. He was injured Friday night when he was struck by a car at Roosevelt road and Cicero avenue. Charles Lehr of 5932 Virginia avenue, was the driver.

George DePiero, 40 years old, was killed when his car was struck by an Elgin, Joliet, and Eastern freight train two miles south of Libertyville in Lake county. He lived at 1442 Clybourn avenue.

Douglas S. McElwain, a co-pilot for United Air Lines, died yesterday at Sturgis, Mich., of a skull fracture suffered in a freak accident near there Saturday. He was riding with Maurice L. Boukema, his brother-in-law, when the dual wheels of the truck ahead of them came off. One of the wheels crashed through the windshield of their car, striking McElwain. He was 26 years old and lived at 3125 South Harlem avenue, Berwyn.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 649 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. In Chicago the death toll reached 505, where 15,623 were injured in the same period.

BANDIT PAIR ROB PEDESTRIAN.

Mike Boris of 1708 North Mozart street was robbed of $11 early yesterday by two bandits near Mozart street and North avenue.

CHURCHILL ASKS U. S. JOIN FIGHT TO STOP DICTATORS

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Winston Churchill, answering Adolf Hitler's accusation that he was a warmonger, tonight called upon world democracies — including the United States — to form a common front against "moral and military aggression" of dictators.

Winston Churchill answering Hitler. [A. P. Radiophoto.]

"The preponderant world forces are upon our side," said Churchill, Britain's first lord of the admiralty during the world war. "They have but to be united to be obeyed."

"We must arm," Churchill said in his speech, which was not broadcast by the British Broadcast company for homeland listeners, though BBC short wave facilities were used to transmit it to the United States. He said France and Britain had bowed before Hitler's demands for Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland, but that they, with the other democracies, should halt the forward march of dictators.

2 POSTS VACANT; BRITISH CABINET FACES REVISION

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain faced major changes in his cabinet today as the result of the death of one of his younger ministers.

Lord Stanley, 44 year old secretary of state for the dominions, died early today, giving Chamberlain two strategic posts to fill in his administration. Lord Stanley was a son of the earl of Derby.

Alfred Duff Cooper resigned as first lord of the admiralty on Oct. 1 in "distrust" of the prime minister's foreign policy and the post remains to be filled.

Lord Stanley will be buried next Thursday at Knowsley, the Lancashire seat of his father. His death ended a two brother partnership in the cabinet. Oliver Stanley is president of the board of trade, a cabinet post similar to that of secretary of commerce in the United States cabinet.

KERNER IS ASKED TO PROSECUTE IN FAKE ARSON CASE

Action Is Sought Against State Fire Marshal.

Attorney General Otto Kerner was asked yesterday to prosecute State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas and several others who advised or aided Coultas in the Chicago fake arson case. Attorney Joseph T. Harrington, representing Frank Kolesiak and Emil Guerrieri, who were forced to confess falsely to setting a hotel fire in which eight persons died, asked Kerner to supersede State's Attorney Courtney in the prosecution.

Ordinarily the attorney general is the legal adviser and defender of state officials. In the proceedings against Coultas so far Mr. Kerner has not appeared and the Coultas defense to date has been conducted by the chief investigator of his office, Roscoe Bonjean, who is also a lawyer. His arrest also is sought.

Arrests Are Asked.

The arrest of Coultas and the others on charges of kidnaping, illegal imprisonment, and forcing their prisoners to confess, is asked in petitions pending before Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court. Judge Rooney has continued the request for warants until next Friday.

Bonjean, who had been deputized as an assistant attorney general by Mr. Kerner in the prosecution of another arson case in Springfield, is a resident of Jacksonville, which is also the home of Coultas. He filed a petition in his own and Coultas' defense with Judge Rooney last Friday.

State's Attorney Courtney was represented in Judge Rooney's court but took no part in the proceedings. In the usual routine, if the warants were issued by Judge Rooney it would be Courtney's duty to prosecute the accused men. But, according to Attorney Harrington, Courtney has refused to prosecute.

Harrington sent Kerner a telegram Saturday which said, in part:

"Yesterday Coultas, Frank E. Doherty [assistant to Coultas], and Roscoe Bonjean filed petition in the Municipal court of Chicago wherein they admitted they had violated the law in reference to falsely imprisoning Emil Guerrieri and Frank Kolesiak.

"They also admitted obtaining a confession from Kolesiak while being detained at the Croydon hotel after being kidnaped by said three state officials. They admitted obtaining a confession from Guerrieri after he had been illegally detained at the Devonshire hotel, Eastgate hotel, and Medinah club in violation of law.

"State's attorney of this county has refused to prosecute the parties guilty of these crimes or to take any action to apprehend the other individuals participating with the three officials.

"I now demand that you as attorney general take some action in this matter as provided by law."

Notice Mailed to Bondsmen.

Attorney General Kerner said yesterday the telegram had not yet reached him. When he receives it he will announce his answer, he said.

Attorney Harrington said he had mailed a notice to State's Attorney Courtney's bondsmen and would do the same with Kerner's, advising them of possible liability in the event of further refusal of the two elected officials to perform sworn duties.

Along with such suits against the bondsmen, Harrington said he would apply for a special state's attorney to be appointed if Kerner should refuse to act and Courtney should continue to refuse. He said he was serving notice that he intended to hold all public officials to their oaths of office and he was demanding justice.

Gov. Horner has personally been investigating Coultas' conduct in the now notorious case.

TRAIN HURLS GIRL, 11, TO DEATH OFF BRIDGE; FATHER SHOUTS IN VAIN

Drama involving a little Chicago girl took place yesterday on a railway trestle over the Kankakee river in Momence, Kankakee county.

The girl, Lynn Carstens, 11 years old, of 9615 South Leavitt street, strayed from her parents near the bridge. A few minutes later her father, Edward E. Carstens Jr., saw her walking on the trestle. And to his horror he saw a train approaching.

Too far away to reach Lynn, the father shouted to her to lie down beside the track. Unhesitatingly she did so. But the engine caught her arm and knocked her off the bridge and into the river.

Richard Hollenbeck dived into the river after Lynn, and brought her to shore. The injuries and shock were too great for her, however, and she died soon afterward.

AMERICAN COMMUNISM IN THE NEW DEAL.

"The New Deal master minds," said Representative J. Parnell Thomas, New Jersey Republican and member of the Dies congressional committee investigating un-American activities, "have pawned themselves out to the communist strategists until now they are so far out on a limb it is practically impossible for them to get back."

Mr. Thomas and other members of the Dies committee spent the summer listening to the testimony of witnesses and examining evidence revealing not only what the communists but the Nazis and the Italian Fascists are doing to influence public opinion, affect the position of the United States in foreign relations, gain political power, and wedge themselves into key positions. The Nazis and Fascists have been noisy, irritating, and troublesome, but only the communists have succeeded in taking positions of great strength where actual control of industrial and governmental activities is in their hands.

Mr. Thomas said he must admit that much of what he had to say about it would probably sound fantastic to his American listeners. A great deal of what the committee has learned and is prepared to submit to the people may seem entirely too strange to be believed, especially by persons who, in the first place, are disinclined to believe it and who then have been told by federal officials that the thing is purely chimerical, scarecrow invention by a desperate opposition which objects to the good works of the New Deal.

The communist revolutionaries have encouraged this. The communist party under Earl Browder's management poses as the party of Jefferson and Lincoln. The American communist has been a model of the mild mannered, well dressed member of the liberal bourgeoisie, as full of democracy as a ripe persimmon is full of pulp, who has respect for the American constitution and is content to work with the New Deal because it represents the purposes of an ideal democracy—such as Stalin is establishing in Russia.

The American communist has disguised himself as a Rotarian, a supporter of the Y. M. C. A. and of the neighborhood improvement club. He is for Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Roosevelt's candidates. He has joined John Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization. He is in control of many of the most powerful unions in that organization. He supports the TVA and the National Labor Relations board. He advocates punitive taxation and higher relief appropriations. He invented the doctrin that a forcible seizure of property in a sitdown strike is a legal method. The department of labor, the postoffice, the governors of several states with their troops, and the new Labor Relations board sustain him in that position. The department of justice did not object.

The communists have organized the WPA through the Workers' Alliance. They own the Farmer-Labor party of Minnesota which is supported by Mr. Roosevelt. They control the Federal Theater project which is used for the advancement of communist ideas.

They have become New Dealers because they recognize in the New Deal a perfect instrument for destruction of capitalism, the profit system, and private enterprise. They know that it is substituting state socialism for private property, that it is destroying public utilities, that it is sterilizing the savings of the people and destroying their investments, that it is bringing labor under the control of a governmental agency, that it is organizing the farmers into subsidized sections of an autocratic state, and that it is establishing destitution as a national institution.

The communists regard the fact that, according to the reasoned report of the social security board, 20 million persons in this country are now dependent for all or a necessary part of their subsistence upon government agencies as the most significant fact in America today. It is significant because it represents the development of an intolerable situation upon which, particularly young people coming of voting age, will look and from which they will make the deduction that the ways of their fathers have been proved to be wholly wrong.

So long as the New Deal increases destitution, increases the necessity for governmental control, has possession of the only working capital in the country, reaches out for further control of business men, workers and farmers, the communists know that the sails are set for the port they intend to reach. They can afford to take their hitch quietly before the mast and await their time to precipitate the mutiny they are encouraged to believe would be inevitable if all this continued. The New Deal is their masterpiece of extemporizing and it fell right into their hands. They do not have to present a program. The New Dealers are much better at it than they could possibly be. It raises the wind for them. All they've got to do is to sail along.

Mr. Roosevelt's favorites among the truly good are in full sympathy with them. Mme. Perkins of the labor department has protected Harry Bridges of the west coast longshoremen in his control of shipping. She will not permit the deportation of this Australian alien who has put the blight of communist violence all over the Pacific coastline and given the Atlantic a taste of it. John Lewis' best vanguard of advisers are communists or socialists, and he does not want to get rid of them even if he could. The Red revolutionaries expelled from the powerful Automobile Workers' union by Homer Martin were reinstated by Lewis, although Martin told him that they had been responsible for the runaway strikes, the violence, and the disorders which had split the union and nearly wrecked its reputation for good faith after it had signed agreements.

The communists knew that the C. I. O. was making a frontal attack upon industry, and when they dared believe the truth, that the federal government intended to use the labor act to shove it into the industries of the country, they then knew they had their spearhead. That explains why they have sent their best men, their most able agitators and organizers into the Lewis organization, and have just about captured it.

They are supported by federal officials and they await the further progress of the New Deal in bringing down what it cannot rebuild and thus affording the opportunity for the revolutionaries.

In 1916 THE TRIBUNE published a serial fiction by the popular novelist, Edwin Balmer, entitled "1917."

Europe was passing through the agonies of the great war and after two years of slaughter no one could tell when it would end nor how. New engines with devices of destruction had been put into the hands of the commanders, war in the air was developing, tanks had appeared, and gas, and heavy artillery of tremendous range and power was being used on an ever increasing scale. All the world was engaged or trembling on the brink of involvement and even far away America was beginning to fear that its cherished immunity from European conflicts was coming to an end.

To give the American people a more alert and informed conception of what it would mean for them, THE TRIBUNE employed Mr. Balmer to visualize the terrific realities which were engulfing the warring nations across the Atlantic, believing it was essential to the national welfare that the nation's thinking should put away the optimism which had brought us in all past crises unprepared for the great responsibilities of armed conflict in the modern age, and should bend its energies to practical preparation and the bracing of the national morale.

Looking back to those critical days and to the events which carried us all too soon into the maelstrom of the European disaster it seems apparent that the publication of "1917" was timely patriotism. In 1917 we were in fact to enter the war.

Two decades later Europe again is in peril of another conflict and many of the phenomena which preceded the former catastrophe have reappeared. Before our intervention in 1917 America had been subjected to highly organized foreign propaganda from both sides and to secret influences unknown not only to the general public but to the government.

It has lately become known that espionage is going on in the United States. The President has called attention to it and declared the government's intention to increase safeguards against it. It has begun the prosecution of Nazi spies. Congressman J. Parnell Thomas [R., N. J.], member of the Dies committee, has revealed that the government service is infiltrated with communist emissaries. Their activities have been a notorious feature of domestic disorder.

THE TRIBUNE is now publishing another novel, "The Crimson Wizard," dealing with the methods of foreign espionage which, though set forth in fiction form, constitute a peril to the nation's peace.

We think this is a contribution to national defense. It will arouse a more vivid sense of actualities at work in this country than news stories or official reports, and this vivid sense is needed if we are not to be helpless victims of subterranean mischief making.

AN ABUSE OF HABEAS CORPUS.

Although the conviction of Abraham Karatz for conspiracy to embezzle had been affirmed by the Supreme court of Illinois, a Circuit court judge, Judge Wilson of Joliet, intervened while the prisoner was en route to a penitentiary and issued a habeas corpus writ for his release under bond.

This action was ignored by the Cook county authorities, who rearrested Karatz and took him to the penitentiary. The Supreme court has now held that the Joliet judge acted in disregard of well settled principles of law. The matter should not, it seems to us, be dropped at this point although Karatz is in prison. The course adopted by Judge Wilson, an inferior judicial officer, in virtually overruling the judgment of the highest court of the state, should not be ignored. It was more serious in its implications than the offense of Karatz, for it defeated the orderly processes of justice and tended to discredit and confuse them. The writ of habeas corpus is too powerful and useful an instrument for the protection of innocence to be abused as in this case, and any judge who abuses it should be impeached. The action of Judge Wilson calls for more than official rebuke.

Editorial of the Day

PROPHECY.

[Baltimore Evening Sun.]

Another effort to stop use of important trafic arteries as open air garages and reserve them for moving vehicles has come to nothing. On Monday the city council adopted an unfavorable report on an ordinance prohibiting parking on St. Paul street between Centre street and North avenue, and on Cathedral street between Centre street and Mount Royal avenue. The ordinance would have given the police the right to remove illegally parked cars on the two thoroughfares.

Opposition came from merchants, who see some advantage in congested trafic.

They win. But their triumph can only be temporary. Applying common sense to the use of the public streets may be postponed, but not forever. It is only a matter of time when the public will demand that its interests be considered and parking will be no more in the downtown area.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

THE CURSE OF VICTORY.

All this acrimonious jittering in the newspapers about the Cubs' failure to vote Charlie Grimm, their ex-manager, drawing two large salaries until the first of the year and well endowed otherwise, a player's share of their world series' bonanza, is deplored by the Linemaster. He places it in that field of bizarre psychology, fraudulent ethics and boloney sportsmanship which regards people who suddenly come into large sums of money as "heels" unless they toss their fortunes to the birds. It reminds him of a vexatious incident in his own career.

In a raffle for a war charity the Linemaster, on a 71 cent ticket, won a piece of jewelry alleged to be worth $2,000. This bauble immediately became the curse of his life. The incident had been given wide publicity, and wherever the lucky stiff went he was accosted by people who insisted:

* * *

[1] That being unmarried, he should take a wife upon whom the gaud might be hung.

[2] That being unmarried, he should give it to some dame, without benefit of clergy. Self-elected candidates for the gift were abundant.

[3] That he should put it up for raffle again, proceeds to go to the handless children of Belgium, victims of the sadistic Hun.

[4] That he probably stole the brooch, anyway. [This was the opinion of the jewelers who were asked to appraise and make an offer on the mess of sapphires and diamonds.]

[5] That since he was making no large and generous gestures about its disposition, he was a triple plated Shylock, unworthy of the friendship of great hearted citizens.

* * *

Nevertheless, like the Cubs, he held out on these distributors of other people's gains. Like an early American patriot, he proclaimed: "Not one cent for tribute." He was ready to end his suffering by tossing the loot into the lake when he found an unsuspicious jeweler who bought that horrible piece of crown jewelry for $300.

Moral: Winners are always expected to be careless with their easy money and to end their days in the poorhouse, where the great hearted may sob over them with abandon.

Let It Pass for an Epigram.

THE HEART IS AUTUMN-WISE.

Now in this gold October, through blue hazé,
Such scarlet ecstasy the woods proclaim,
The head is thrilled and dizzied by their flame,
It fain would emulate the maple's ways.
The heart is autumn-wise and weeps instead.
The head's forgotten that bright other blaze,
(Such love, you said, could never die. O liar!)
The heart, beholding now the maple's fire,
Turns sick with memory of these desolate hills,
Remembering how frost brightens ere it kills.
Nor any gold October nor desire
Can kindle now such scarlet ecstasies;
The heart is autumn-wise to love that's red,
The heart remembers longer than the head.

Truck Drivers' Patter.

Description of a trafic accident in the vernacular of highway truck drivers:

Well, it was just about daybreak. I had the old corn popper in the whistle gear winding about forty when I saw this hay shaker coming across a side road. I gave him the horn and pinched the air a couple of times, but he stopped for the highway so I kicked it down in direct and stuck my foot back in the carburetor. I was just getting wound up again when I hit the intersection and this lug pulled out on me. I cut for the berm and made it around him all right, but I couldn't bring her back and the next thing I knew I was out in the pea patch plowing corn. Kenneth Clary.

Why, O Why, O Why?

Why doesn't any dictionary give the definition of "tisket" or of "tasket"? Why does Funk & Wagnall's give one pronunciation for the word "batrachomyomachia" while Webster gives another? And, en passant, why should any one care how "batrachomyomachia" is pronounced? And speaking of pronunciations, I'm 40 years old, and I've read Dean Swift for thirty, but damme if I've ever been able to find out how one pronounces the term "Houyhnhnm"! Tracy Cronin Close.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

CREEPING ERUPTION TRAVELS.

PARASITIC diseases of the skin may appear despite seeming cleanliness because some of the causative "varmints" can burrow beneath the surface and hide away in trenches. Scabies or "the itch" is likely to attack school children at almost any time. Infestation is marked by intense itching—while scratching only has the effect of making the lesions more bothersome.

But there are other tiny creatures, able to enter the human cuticle, which are not so common and hence may be harder to identify—for example, the one causing creeping eruption which was described so accurately about ten years ago by Kirby-Smith. The disease has been reported along the Atlantic and gulf coasts from New Jersey to Texas.

A worm [Ancylostoma braziliense] is responsible and, in infested regions, cats, dogs, and man are seized upon as victims. Because it is fairly common along certain of our beaches we may expect the disorder about this time in those who have spent late vacations along the shore.

During the last few years we have learned much about this parasite. Contact is made with bare hands and feet, particularly when the epidermis has been softened by perspiration or through walking on wet sand or soil. In addition, ponds may be contaminated and, during flood seasons, polluted water may be carried to adjacent localities previously clean. Only four or five days may elapse before the host will know that he is entertaining unwelcome guests. At first the difficulty may be attributed to an insect bite as the point of entrance is usually raised and red, and a slight blister may form. But sooner or later the molelike track will be noted, whereupon creeping eruption should be suspected.

The case is reported of a young man, 24 years old, who shortly after his return from a holiday near the ocean complained of a severe itching of both hands. Inspection disclosed raised, reddish lines on the palm of one and on the back of the other. The pathways were tortuous and the patient described its progress as "aimless wandering." In fact, on waking in the morning he could observe that the journey had extended considerably during the night. One especially active spot "grew" nearly an inch in 48 hours. The diagnosis was made by finding the worm in one of the burrows.

Treatment depends on killing the "inhabitant." This may be accomplished in the early stages by means of ultraviolet light or dressings soaked with ethyl acetate, covered with oiled silk to prevent evaporation. Freezing has also been suggested and here an area of about one inch in diameter—using the end of a furrow as the center—is exposed to the spray of ethyl chloride until the skin is blanched. In some instances a light dose seems to give better results—using a spray for 30 seconds rather than for three to four minutes required to blister the parts. The worm is so close to the top that this brings on rapid destruction, as it cannot withstand cold. Other authorities advocate carbon dioxide snow, but unless this is administered cautiously the blisters which may follow its application are likely to be slow in healing.

If many invaders are present, one may be attended to each day until all have been chilled thoroughly. If signs of inflammation develop, hot wet packs may be necessary. Care must be taken to avoid bacterial infection, when a bad matter is made worse.

Prevention consists in keeping cats and dogs away from places where people are likely to go barefooted, as the intestinal tracts of these pets may void the eggs in large numbers. In any neighborhood in which the malady is at all prevalent it is wise to use the standard drug [trichlorethylene] with these animals, so that they will be unable to scatter these annoying pests.

BABIES' SKULLS SOFT.

A. S. writes: A three month old baby has a lopsided head caused by lying on one side in an incubator. Will the condition correct itself or should something be done about it?

REPLY.

During the passage of the child's head through the birth canal the bones may be molded in such a way that the head may appear misshapen. We must recall that the parts are soft—almost pliable—and that pressure will change the position of the bones. If posture is a factor it is well to compensate by changing to the other side.

HAVE BLOOD COUNT.

R. O. writes: I have heard that it is dangerous to some individuals to take barbituric drugs regularly. How can a person know whether or not he is being poisoned?

REPLY.

By periodical blood counts which will indicate trouble ahead if the white cells drop in number.

SYPHILIS AND HEREDITY.

L. N. wrtes: Is syphilis inheritable?

REPLY.

Not strictly, although an infected mother may give birth to a syphilitic child. The condition is not transmitted in the embryo.

TUCKPOINTING NEEDED.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I wonder if something can be done to make the landlord next door repair building. The rear wall is sinking badly and crumbling away. It needs a new foundation immediately before the soft weather sets in or it will be too late. I have had experience in this line of work and know what I am talking about. The landlord insists it does not pay to fix the shanty but is willing to sacrifice human lives by keeping tenants in it. He is financially able to repair the building but will do nothing as long as the tenants are satisfied to pay their rent.

L. A.

Our inspector reports that this is a one story brick residence in fair condition and structurally safe at this time. The rear brick wall needs tuck-pointing and the owner has been notified to make the necessary repairs. If the work is not done at the expiration of time allotted in our notice, we will proceed according to law.

NUMB WITH FRIGHT, AND THEN!

Chicago, Oct. 13.—The first time I saw it I was overcome by awe and more than a little bit of fear. Bounded by La Salle, Randolph, Clark, and Washington streets, it stands there—a massive building. To me, an insignificant newly become secretary, the walls of the building seemed to be a gray and forbidding stockade, beyond which none save the very important had the right to pass. What, then, was I to do? In my hand a sheaf of papers representing a divorce case; in my mind the words of my lawyer employer: "Go to the Municipal court and file this suit." To say that I was confused would be putting it mildly—I was actually numb with terror!

When I finally summoned up enough courage to enter the building my consternation was even greater! Pompous old gentlemen running in and out of elevators smoking huge black cigars, groups of young lawyers standing in the halls arguing over the rulings in certain cases, efficient looking young women running out of courtrooms with huge stacks of papers in their hands—and there was I—little girl, what now?

Well, when I finally did locate the proper room and enter it I thought the end had come. There, behind little windows, stood businesslike clerks stamping papers at a lightning speed! The people who stood in line in front of the windows seemed sure of themselves. They handed the clerks the proper papers, the correct amount of money, and before I knew it they were gone, and it was my turn. O, horror of horrors! Although I am not a very short person I feel sure that I shrank some five or six inches under the glare [or so I interpreted it] of the clerk.

BUT, and that but is certainly deserving of capital letters, I was due for a shock! Instead of the clerk being the cold, forbidding individual I had expected, he was one of the kindest, most considerate people it has been my good fortune to meet. He actually tried to explain to me the meaning of all the mysterious stamps with which he was covering up my precious divorce suit! After he had finished he very kindly directed me to the bailif's office, where I received the same kind treatment! I write this letter in the hope that some of the employés of "that big, mysterious building" will read it, and know thereby that their kind words, considerate acts, and little jokes, mean an awful lot to a young, bewildered girl like me. Many thanks! GOING ON EIGHTEEN.

TREES ON OUR HIGHWAY.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Your editorial, "Landscaped Highways," recalled our own recent observations as we drove along Governor's highway [route 49] from Chicago to Kankakee.

Many trees have been set out along this highway, south of the Lincoln highway, and in time it will be a route of real beauty, if——

The trees on the east side of the road are not injured by the telephone wires which are now directly over the small trees, and which in time will run among their branches.

On the west side of the highway the trees are set out far enough, apparently, to escape the wires, and thus prevent interference with the growth of the trees and ultimate damage to the wires.

It is far more inspiring to see rows of beautiful trees and shrubs along a highway than scores of ugly signboards. Farsighted intelligence in planting trees is essential, and care shoud be taken to see that the trees are protected against unnecessary injury which may result in their untimely destruction. J. C.

NOISY NEWSBOYS.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—I don't suppose you will print this complaint against noisy newsboys. But you are helping to wage campaigns against noisy automobile horns and other public noises detrimental to public health, and I think this menace should be included.

I live near the Edgewater Newspaper distributors, 5848 Broadway, and am one of many suffering from disturbances from the noisy truck drivers and newsboys going to and from this station between 4 and 7 a. m. daily. Truck drivers, arriving about 4 a. m., besides talking loudly, make unnecessary noises with their trucks. The boys on routes in the neighborhood of Magnolia and Ardmore talk, shout, and whistle loudly while delivering papers, crash their noisy carts up and down curbs, and as they did this morning at 5:15, sometimes kick tin cans around. On Sundays and holidays it is still worse, as the small boys start out sometimes as early as 6:30 a. m. shouting, often calling papers as early as 7 or 7:30, continuing at frequent intervals till about 10:30, depriving working folks of needed rest.

Isn't it time the newspaper authorities do something to correct this evil of allowing people's nerves and health to be ruined from lack of sleep? WORN OUT.

FOUNTAINS DRY ALL SUMMER.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Perhaps you can find out from the Chicago park board why the small fountains in Grant park at the end of Washington and Madison streets have been dry all summer. I twice phoned their office during the hot months but haven't found out yet. Many decent people enjoy the grass and benches in Grant park and the fountains used to be an attraction.

If out of order, let's repair and use the things we have and then spend money on a subway.

DONALD S. MCKINLAY.

A REFRESHING NOVELTY.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—The picture of Lorraine Williamson, Ottawa's corn festival "queen," is so different and so much better than the usual festival or carnival "queen" picture that it deserves mention. Those responsible also deserve commendation.

It is refreshing to see the girl's pleasant face above the corn instead of having her posed in an abbreviated bathing suit.

A. W. LOCKWOOD.

PREFERS TO BE ABOVE GROUND.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Here are some questions which I would like to have answered. Some years ago Chicago voted down a "dinky" subway. Why is it being rammed down our throats now? If it was necessary to submit the project to a vote of the citizens at that time, why is it not at present? Is our town so hemmed in by nature on all sides that a subway is the only possible solution for our trafic problems? I, for one, would rather walk for miles than be pulled through one of those dark, damp, dirty, and dangerous holes. For me, air and sunshine until I am put underground permanently, when I can no longer protest. All this dinky subway will do is boost the business of the motor coach company, for who will want to look at miles of such scenery as is found in the Washington street tunnel when he can ride through parks, along the lake, and down our Boul. Mich.? Not this customer. Very truly yours,

AIR AND LIGHT.

THAT DAILY SHAVE.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Question: What is more enjoyable to a man than to lie back in a barber chair and be shaved?

Answer—To be able to afford it.

Cannot something be done to bring the price of the daily shave down to where the working class can afford it? We all envy the smooth appearance of the boss when he breezes in because we cannot achieve the same effect by our own hand.

I agree that a craftsman, tonsorial or otherwise, should receive reasonable pay for his work, but have you noticed the number of barber shops that are empty all day?

I would suggest something on the order of a meal ticket, say twelve shaves and a haircut for $2.50 or $3, said ticket to be void two weeks from date. Who can deny that the barber would be kept busy with such a setup? W. J. S.

THAT "UNDERGROUND THEATER."

Chicago, Oct. 13.—For Mr. Perlmutter's information in regard to the building on Wabash avenue with sign "Hardy Underground theater": This structure was built during the World's Fair of 1893 for a theater, but never opened. It later was used for a stable for the horses of H. H. Kohlsaat & Co., and still later turned into a garage. The building to the south was McKillip Veterinary hospital, which has since been torn down.

Meet Your Teen Age Children Part of the Way

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Try to make decisions with your teen age children. If you believe, for instance, that 12 o'clock is late enough even for a big party to last, don't just lay down the law. Explain why you think so. Be willing to give your own reasons, as well as to listen to your children's.

And don't be too dignified to concede something, to compromise. When you can't, however, and some principle is involved, stand firm. And believe this: if you have been fair and understanding your children will be able to take it from you and with a good grace. They will even, if the rare occasion arises when you must make a decision for them without giving the reason, be able to accept it on faith.

They know you wouldn't "let them down." Earn their respect, not just outward respect, but respect for your sincerity and wisdom; if you do they will meet you more than halfway.

I think it is important for parents of growing-up children to realize that it is not insolence nor insubordination for them to think for themselves, and to question many accepted things. It's normal and it is right.

SECOND ANNUAL EXAMINATION.
[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The Second Annual Self-Rating Bridge Examination is about to start! Thousands of readers who "took" the exam last year now will have the chance to gauge their improvement, and many new thousands will, I hope, grasp this opportunity to find just where they stand as bridge players.

Beginning tomorrow, one or two questions will appear each week day. There will be nothing tricky or complicated about these questions. They simply will be designed to test knowledge. When you have made your decision as to the correct bid or correct play in each given situation, write it down and hold it. The question will be restated and answered in this column exactly one week from the day it is propounded. Along with the answer, I will state the number of demerits that should be deducted from the original par of 1,000 points, if you have answered incorrectly.

Let me explain further: Every time you give the wrong answer you must deduct the number of points from your running total. Thus, starting with 1,000 points, if you go wrong the first week on questions that carry 7, 8, and 15 demerit points, your total, starting the second week, will be 1,000 minus 30—970 points. But here is a ray of sunshine: Some of the difficult questions will carry no demerits, but will provide credit points for correct answers, these points to be added to your current score. Thus, you will have a chance to redeem yourself if you get off on the wrong foot.

Although this is essentially a self-rating examination, many readers no doubt will prefer to have their ratings figured by me. I will gladly render this service free of charge to any reader. Last year I not only rated about 1,500 sets of answers that were mailed in, but sent certificates of merit to all examinees who attained the rank of master, expert, or post-graduate.

This year it will be easier for readers to mail me their answers, because they will have to do so only once a week. If you decide to take advantage of this feature, hold each week's answers to the Saturday or Sunday at the week's end. Then put them in one envelope [being sure to mark each answer according to the question number] and mail them to Ely Culbertson, care of THE TRIBUNE. Be sure, however, that you post each week's envelope before 5 p. m. on Sunday. It is my hope that at least 2,000 examinees will earn certificates.

In addition to my sending a signed certificate of merit to every examinee that attains a high mark, I will present a valuable prize to those who come out with a ranking of "master." This prize will be an Autobridge playing board with two sets of advanced deal sheets. This popular device, which enables a player to test his skill under real playing conditions against the world's greatest experts, retails everywhere [with two sets of deal sheets] at $4.

Please note that no entry fee, no expense of any kind is incurred by readers who wish to take this examination, whether or not they qualify for a certificate and the autobridge prize.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Double	Pass	1 no trump
Pass	3 hearts	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	Pass	Pass

South, holding a powerful and flexible 5-4-4 distribution, opened the bidding despite the fact that he held a bare two and one-half honor tricks. But, more important, as will be seen, was his choice of suits. The Culbertson system, taking cognizance of all the times when the partner of an opening bidder will be on lead defensively, is very much against bidding a suit which contains no honor. In this case, if South were to bid one diamond the whole development and control of the defense would be lost.

After the club bid, South won the opening club lead with the king, continued with the ace, and gave North a ruff of a third club. Now a spade return, indicated by South's playing the ten rather than the deuce of clubs for the third trick [by the rule of suit preference] completed West's undoing. He had to lose a spade trick and went down one. With a diamond opening lead, five-odd would have been a laydown.

English Suits Make Exciting Fashion Finds

BY RHEA SEEGER.

With much joy we offer one of the best fashion finds of the season! English suits, just unpacked, are ready for all appreciative American shoppers. If you've always craved a fine suit of English wool, superlatively tailored as only these imports can be tailored, this news will be important as well as exciting.

Once you see these suits you'll linger long over the intriguing selection. The fabrics are breath taking, they're so soft, so smart in color and combine. Each detail is hand finished and smooth and swankily British. There is no hint of stiff mannishness in any model. Two piece suits are amazingly low priced for such meticulously good quality and workmanship. The skirts flare slightly and the jackets are fitted and cut to equal anything you've ever heard or seen in an English suit. Pockets, lapels, shoulders, and collars are perfect!

Mixtures are the usual British, well bred combines, indeterminate plaids and blurred checks. Solid colors are exciting with the deep sapphire blue and forest green the favorites.

Separate topcoats are traditionally classic in streamline, coats that wear forever without a hint of the original date of purchase. Some are matched to suit. An example is the blue topcoat lined with a stunning blue and red plaid. This goes with a slim, smart two piece suit of plain blue skirt and effective plaid jacket the same pattern as the lining of the coat.

Others are available in other colors. All topcoats are cravenetted so that they are not only warm and handsome, but waterproof. These imports are vanishing while you shop because of their smartness and interesting price marks. But others are on the way.

For Home and Leisure

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK, HOUSE COAT.

Now the cool weather is definitly here for quite a stay, life is settling into a regular and fascinating routine of work and pleasure. For work every homemaker needs her "costume" or "uniform," a type of dress that is pretty and attractive while serving a utilitarian purpose. The house frock we're offering in the pattern today is youthful and distinctively designed. It buttons down the front so that you can put it on and take it off without disturbing your coiffure. It has a contrasting lingerie collar and cuffs to match. Even the pockets partake of the crispness of the contrast, giving the dark frock a spic and span air that is refreshing at all times.

With the same pattern you can create a becoming house coat for your leisure hours at the fireside. It has a V neckline, simple rolled collar, and a slide fastener all the way down the front to the swirling hemline. The stiffer the fabric selected, the better. Slipper satin is an exquisite choice, as are matelasse and brocades. Woolen also is a possibility, and if you like the softer materials, select ordinary satin or one of the lovely crêpes.

Style No. 3391 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting, and 2½ yards of ruffling for the house dress. For the lounging coat requirements, see the pattern envelope.

Ballet Stages Dance Drama of Filling Station

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Far from insisting on a remote, glamor packed spot as background for its writhings, the Ballet Caravan calmly chooses the filling station on the corner. Instead of peopling the stage with demigods and nymphs, this unusual group is content with policemen, playboys, truck drivers, holdup men, and Sunday motorists.

Making its Chicago bow at the Civic theater yesterday afternoon, the Ballet Caravan presented among other things the piece called "Filling Station." It is a successful attempt to prove that 20th century America, like the Arcady of Pan, can suggest dance motifs to those who know how and where to look.

Costumes are imaginative, taking the peculiarities of present day dress and exaggerating them in a highly theatrical manner. Comic aspects of personality are cleverly exploited—not by motion and posture alone, but by expert use of the art of grimace.

Except in detail, the choreography is not greatly different from the Schoop-Jooss-Page type of thing. There is the same attempt to utilize the functional, to point up real life motion until it becomes highly expressive in itself.

A person's opinion of "Filling Station" depends largely on how fanatically interested he happens to be in the whole modern attempt to bring ballet down from the clouds to the streets. The piece is not very funny—not very pat. It is not very significant as social criticism.

The second fall program of the Beaux Arts salon brought to the lounge of the Medinah club yesterday Bernice Rickman, soprano, and Dorothy Foster, pianist. The former sang folk music, modern lyrics, and an operatic air in a voice of superlative natural quality—but a voice, alas, which fails of the proper support in a rapid passage and quite runs away with its owner. Miss Rickman is a natural musician, and proved it conclusively by her expert handling of nuance.

Miss Foster offered a Beethoven sonata, some Chopin and Liszt, and the characterful, lonesome sounding little "Covered Wagon" of Radie Britain. Tone is warm, phrasing intelligent and moving, technique clean. That this young pianist is an admirable accompanist as well as soloist was indicated by her work with Miss Rickman.

ILLINOIS SYMPHONY OPENS

In a program full of zest and novelty, the Illinois Symphony orchestra yesterday opened its series of forty weekly Sunday afternoon concerts at the Great Northern theater.

Two modern works were heard here for the first time. A "Concerto Grosso," for string orchestra and piano, by Albert Stœssel of New York, proved to be a gracious and fluent attempt to apply a mildly dissonant style to the structure of the early eighteenth century preclassical concerto. Three excerpts from the ballet, "The Golden Age," by the Soviet enfant terrible Dimitri Shostakovitch, set the audience first into titters, then into gales of laughter. The music is enormously vulgar in content, but both aristocratic in workmanship and irresistibly funny in effect.

Elsie Alexander played the displayful Moszkowski piano concerto with a small tone, for which fleet technique and warmth of musical feeling compensated considerably. Izler Solomon conducted the program, which opened with Leo Sowerby's "Comes Autumn Time," in his best vein—and that is something very brilliant indeed.—C. S.

Junior League Members Enlist in New Project

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE first members of the Chicago Junior league to enlist with the league's new three year project, a foster home program for convalescent children, are Miss Frederica Walling, Miss Peggy Sargent, Mrs. James A. Drain Jr., the former Barbara Atwater; Miss Virginia Garard, and Mrs. Ralph W. Applegate, the former Julia Patterson. They and two dozen more who will be considered eligible because of previous experience in child care, will attend a training course at the league offices on Nov. 7, 8, and 9. Immediately thereafter these volunteers, who will be known as sponsors, will start work.

Just what makes this program tick, and why it is of public service, can best be illustrated by the story of the league's first case, little Joe. Joe was only 2, and his appendix just had been removed. He and his mother were in the Cook county hospital; she was about to have a serious operation. Father was an iceman. He earned $25 a week. Some of that went to two foster families to look after Joe's two brothers, who could not be left at home alone. But who would look after Joe when he was discharged from the hospital the next day? An ordinary foster home is not equipped to care for a small boy with bandages.

Miss Ethel Veery, executive director of the Chicago Orphan asylum, heard the story from worried hospital officials. "Emergency!" she cried to the Chicago Junior league. And the league, which had been waiting until Oct. 1 to open its new project, swung into action two weeks early. Joe was put into just the right sort of home, watched over by some one who knows all about bandages.

Three Institutions Co-Operate with League.

The league watches over him, too. His sponsor acts as go-between for Joe's family, the foster family, the county hospital, the Chicago Orphan asylum, and the Children's Memorial hospital, which are coöperating with the league in this project. The sponsor reads to Joe and plays with him, and if he were older she would be prepared to do simple tutoring in geography, mathematics, and spelling.

Only ten children a day are to be cared for this year. The asylum will be responsible for all financial arrangements with the foster mother. The two hospitals will be responsible for all medical supervision. The league will provide the financial backing; it will select and train members who are to do volunteer work, and if the asylum so designates, the league will furnish clothing for the child during its convalescence, and supply play material and all equipment to be used in any therapeutic program the child may need.

In connection with this project the league has started a toy lending agency under the management of Mrs. John Wastcoat [Babbs Burton]. From a wide selection of toys suitable for infants and children up to 16 years the sponsor may take materials to amuse and instruct her charge, or books for tutoring.

In the excitement of starting its new project, the league is not neglecting one of its most popular means of raising money, the annual fall second hand clothes sale. The date for the sale has been set for Nov. 10, a Thursday, but no place has been selected. The committee in charge will meet today at the league headquarters in the Drake. Mrs. Norman Ibsen is chairman.

Miss Marjorie Kimball, a member of the Chicago league, is in New York to attend the opening today of the annual October board meeting of the directors of the Association of Junior Leagues of America. Miss Kimball is director of Region VII. of the association.

"Old Folks."

Bing Crosby was in town last week to make his first records with his brother Bob's orchestra. One of the records made was the result of a sequence of events, beginning with a song heard accidentally by Song Writer Johnny Mercer on a recent New York holiday. Mercer, who sang with Crosby in their revival of Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean (new words by Mercer), wandered into a 52d street place and heard Willard Robinson (Deep River) singing his newest song, Old Folks. Mercer had him repeat it until he had it, then telephoned Crosby in California and sang it to him. Bing agreed immediately to make a record of it. It was made in Chicago Friday.

That isn't all the story. When Bing suddenly decided to come to Chicago to make a record with Bob Crosby's orchestra, the arrangers found themselves with twenty-four hours' notice and a peculiar piece of sheet music out of which they had to produce an orchestration. Mercer, who had been in town visiting on his way back to the coast, had been singing Old Folks everywhere. (He taught a lot of Saddle and Cycle members one night—by sheer repetition). The arrangers, following the only practicable plan they could think of, called in persons who had heard Mercer sing the song and managed, by comparing notes and theories, to turn out an arrangement said to be exceptionally good as well as accurate.

Recording Problem.

Most recording dates start at 10 a. m. (Bing's started at 9), which is the middle of a night to a musician. Even if the date were at 2 in the afternoon it would be the equivalent of recording immediately after an early breakfast. No time to expect anybody to play good music. How much better would recordings be if they were made during musicians' normal working hours, one wonders. In Chicago musicians play a six day week. Why not make recordings about 11 o'clock of the seventh night? Wouldn't the music—particularly hot music—be better?

"Young Man with a Horn" Again.

"No one could portray the rôle of Rick Martin better than Burgess Meredith, who never fails to live his part and who definitly resembles the personality and appearance of Bix Beiderbecke as Dorothy Baker presents him—a pale, thin boy, sharp and firm, with bright, fiery eyes. Virginia Bruce would be swell as Amy North and Bill Robinson (playing a drum instead of dancing) would make a perfect smoke.

BY CECIL SMITH.

"Blossom Time" is back in our midst again, taking a new lease on life—its ninth life in this city. Watson Barratt's lush green and purple garden scene is back again; and shrinking Franz Schubert with his sweet goodness of heart and his inability to become articulate except through music; and old intemperate Kranz, who regards nearly everything as "suspicious"; and his three coy, squealing young daughters with the rhyming names, Mitzi, Kitzi, and Fritzi; and Bellabruna, the classic stereotype of the jealous prima donna; and Baron von Schober with his old world grace of manner toward everything feminine; and the lilting Schubert tunes transmogrified into the purest Romberg; and all the picturesque, if impractical, garments the Viennese population wore so unconcernedly in 1826.

It is all there, and what is more, it is all in good repair. The ninth "Blossom Time" compares favorably with any of its predecessors in casting, in costuming, in singing, and in total entertainment value. Everett Marshall, new to the rôle of Schubert, was enthusiastically received by first nighters at the Grand Opera house last evening. He looks as much like portraits of the composer as is necessary, and fulfills the requirements of the book with simplicity, which is all the book asks for and all it can take. His big voice is reasonably effective, although he could make it sound less woolly if he gave up mouthing his words.

The other singing parts are agreeably handled. Charlotte Lansing as the prima donna sweeps on and off the stage with handsome carriage, and sings with a lilting lyric soprano the becomes enchanting up high. Mary McCoy is choice to look at, and negotiates her share of the music—including the "Song of Love"—prettily, especially when she employs some very high, very soft flageolet tones of exquisite texture. Roy Cropper, one of the best operetta tenors on the market, is completely satisfactory.

Quite contrary to normal expectation, the comedy passages are thoroughly entertaining. Douglas Leavitt sketches out his picture of the tippling, befogged Kranz with dozens of the best vaudeville tricks, endowing the ordinarily elephantine lines with a degree of hilarity the original librettists never imagined.

The performance can be heartily recommended as one calculated to send many a shiver of pleasure up the spine of every confirmed lover of "Blossom Time."

Good Morning!

Music lovers, give ear! [Or eye.] The World Playhouse is the place for you this week!

On its screen is being presented a photoplay featuring the veteran piano mæstro, Ignace Jan Paderewski in his first—and only, he says—screen appearance. For Paderewski retired from the concert stage five years ago and has tired of the white light of publicity. . . . He was 76 years old when this picture was filmed in England.

Charming scenery and truly remarkable settings background the story, which is, really, in itself just a background for the performances of the beloved musician who plays grandly Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata, Polonaise in A flat Major, opus 53 by Chopin, Liszt's Second Hungarian Rhapsody, and his own Minuet in G Minor. . . . It's a joy to be there and hear and see him. . . . Wonderful hands! Wonderful face!

Also, it's interesting to renew acquaintance with Charles Farrell.

Then, Marie Tempest, veteran of a thousand—more or less—stage plays, presents herself to the screen public as a dowager of wit and charm.

The action opens at one of Paderewski's recitals—thrilling to see and hear. Then you are taken to a fascinating castle in Sweden where Paderewski, after a forced plane landing, spends several days with his old friend, Baroness Lindenborg, her granddaughter Ingrid; Eric, agent of the estate—in love with Ingrid; and one Mario de la Costa, an adventurer who has been on the plane when landing became necessary.

It's really not much of a story and the dialog sometimes is awfully forced. But the acting is all excellent—the villain has an alluring Basil Rathbone-ishness about him!—and you're always holding your breath for the time when Paderewski shall play again!

See you tomorrow.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. By mistake they go to the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. But young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. But they acquire one next day. While in the house David had seen a favorite book of his former love, Betsy Greentree, with her initials in it. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David learns the Scarpaths live in the mysterious house and sends a letter there to Betsy, which is unanswered. David confronts Scarpath, who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being taken care of by his sister, Evelyn. In the guise of a telephone repair man David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she did not receive his letter. She tells David her husband is not in love with her and she doesn't know why he married her. David arranges a scheme whereby they may communicate, with Penelope Wibbe's aid. Then Betsy's writing materials disappear. When Dr. Broderick, the specialist attending Betsy, insists on her taking the medicine, which always makes her feel worse, she grows desperate. Alison's friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, leaving her flat one night, finds Betsy unconscious on the threshold. Revived, Betsy explains Penelope helped her escape. She is half starved.

INSTALMENT XXV.

A HOPELESS MUDDLE.

At a quarter past two Colin was ready to depart. He was frowning at the bedroom door, deep in meditation.

"Well," Alison jogged him. "And what do we do next?"

No answer, only that concentrated stare. The time they had had making Elizabeth take over the bed! Her protests had been stubborn—and pathetic. At last she was tucked up, in warm woolies, it was to be hoped sound asleep.

"God's own mercy we found her when we did," the doctor was muttering. "Another hour . . . but it's bad enough as it is. Just let her catch 'flu. It'll do for her, like that." He snapped his fingers softly.

"You said, didn't you, this disease is terribly weakening?"

"What's that? O, quite!" The assent was mechanical. "Whatever the case, it's out of the question to move her as she is now. No one in his senses would shoulder the risk. I'm going to send along a nurse to stay here during the day. It won't run to much."

"A nurse? O, that's brilliant, Colin! I suppose David will have to be told. . . ."

"Why not? You can ring him up."

"And have him skating back the very minute he hears? I could put it off till tomorrow evening. She may be better by then. And then," more heavily, "there's her husband. . . ."

"If Scarpath is out of town and can't be got hold of—as seems likely to be the case—that gives us a day or so, at least. In time, of course, the problem will have to be met."

"Exactly! O, Colin, I feel so horribly responsible! We don't at all understand the real position."

"See here." He jerked the words, still as though thinking aloud. "This chance has been handed me, and I won't pass it up."

"You can't think of treating Elizabeth yourself!" cried Alison, amazed. "After all you've said about the risk of cutting in on another doctor's case?"

"I didn't say treat her myself. Examine her. Keep her under observation—for my own interest, if you choose. Technically," he continued grimly, "she's a free agent—and in what I believe tull possession of her faculties. If she'd keeled over in the street," he argued speciously, "and I'd happened along, wouldn't it come to much the same thing?"

"So long as it doesn't get you into a mess," Alison gave dubious assent. "It's certainly quite plain how she feels about her own doctor."

"Broderick!" He drew in a hissing breath. "Yes, I'll have him to reckon with. . . . Think they'll guess where to look for her?"

"First shot. We're the only people she knows in all London. O, they may not locate me just at once! I'm not in the telephone book, and David gave the club as his address. I suppose if he hears from the husband he can either ignore it or swear he doesn't know anything.'

"Good! I'll be here at 9, and give the nurse full instuctions." With a parting pat—friendly, but, O, utterly mechanical!—he quitted the flat.

Suddenly dead beat, Alison made ready her divan-bed. Tension had relaxed, leaving only acute and despondent anxiety, arisen from an oddly mixed source. Elizabeth, for all her tragically altered looks so lovely, so—so fatally—appealing!

She stole into the bedroom for a last peep. There the sufferer lay, cuddled under the gold eider down, the firelight lending a flush to her sleeping face. One slim hand rested across her throat, her forehead, beneath the demure parting of her hair, looked so wistful, so young! No wonder David was enslaved to the point of losing all analytical judgment. Men, however intelligent, were like that. . . .

"O, God, am I jealous?"

She couldn't, she wouldn't be such a crawling fool! She, who all her life had despised pettiness in any form. . . .

To square her conscience she scribbled a note ordering extra milk, cream, and fresh eggs, conveying it all the way downstairs to leave on the cold doorstep. In bed at last she planned how, on her way to the office she would send in a chicken, splendid hot house grapes, and yes, flowers. Heaven alone knew what tomorrow might bring toppling down on them, but for the present let this unhappy child find some comfort and cheer. . . .

The nurse, turning up before Elizabeth was awake, proved broad hipped and hearty, with little imagination, and one hoped! sterling capabilities. Alison lingered as long as she dared on the chance of seeing Colin, but was forced to abandon the hope. An active day lay ahead, and how she was going to bring her wits to bear on agreement clauses and diplomatic interviews was a desperate problem.

She did, as it happened, come one nasty cropper.

"Look, A. Y.," drawled Hartley Matfield peering in on her through owl spectacles and thumbing a document handed over for her inspection. "Since when did we annex an author named Scarpath?"

"O, gosh! Give it here!" Swamped with confusion she tore the foolscap from him—and stared. "Gladys, my child"—to her befogged secretary—"this top sheet'll have to be retyped. I've been glancing through something called 'Plate Glass,' she babbled, "by one Geoffrey Scarpath—and I must have got these funny names mixed. It's Scathling, of course."

"So I imagined." Young Matfield loitered, blinking at her. "I saw that book on your desk. Any good?"

"Well. . . . Yes, Gladys, S-c-a-t-h-l-i-n-g. George in front. . . . What's that, H. M.? O, 'Plate Glass!' So so. Dazzling in spots, but thin and unfinished."

Her colleague retreated, musing a little on what he had overheard A. Y. instructing the telephone girl earlier that morning.

"Why she's so dead against having her home address handed out? Afraid if a man answers her phone it might raise complications? One did last time I rang up—darned late, too. H'm! It's a cert she's got this Scarpath fellow on the brain. Well, well! You never know."

Alison was just jamming on her hat for her usual race to lunch when the telephone's peal brought dryness to her mouth. Gladys was speaking.

"Yes, Mr. Beddoes. Miss Young, it's your cousin."

She grabbed the receiver. "David, you loon, why this extravagance? . . . No, nothing. Listen, I'll call you back this evening—yes, I mean it, 8 sharp, so stand by. How's the going? . . . Fine, swell! Now, good-by."

From the safety of a public booth she obtained news from her flat, finding it reassuring. No disturbance had occurred. Mrs. Greentree—they had agreed on that name—had only a slight cold, and having eaten a topping meal was now tucked up for a nap. The doctor? O, he had spent quite an hour with her—ordered oranges, liver extract, and a malt tonic.

The afternoon post brought a missive from Pen, with Personal inkily underscored. The kid, it seemed was in no way to blame. She had received last evening a frightning S O S daubed in lipstick—saying the writer was determined to escape, with or without clothing, the moment things were quiet.

Pen, after sending up a line, had possessed herself of such articles of wearing apparel as were least likely to be missed, and at a given signal was waiting in readiness for the shivering fugitive. She had dosed her charge up with a full glass of brandy, got a taxi, and hoped for the best.

GASOLINE ALLEY—GOOD NEIGHBORS

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Misinterpreted

Story of Jesus and Tax Ferret Told Film Style

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

A sermon was preached in the best motion picture scenario form last night before an overflow Sunday Evening club congregation at Orchestra hall by Lloyd C. Douglas, noted author of "Magnificent Obsession," "Green Light," and other well known novels.

The people in scenario-sermon were the Carpenter of Nazareth, the collector of internal revenue at Jericho whose name was Zacchaeus, police of Jericho, slaves, and the rabble that followed the Carpenter. The drama was based on the ten verse account of Christ and Zacchaeus in St. Luke XIX., with modern historical scholarship and a novelist's imagination.

A lavish motion picture set such as Hollywood would require for the scenario was supplied by Douglas' vivid descriptive sentences, delivered in virtual monotone. The preachment was indirect, depending upon the rising succession of dramatic scenes.

Zacchaeus, smallish rich man, scorned by Jericho because of his blackmail methods of tax collecting, was a partner in imperial Rome's biggest business, the taxing corporations.

The drama moved to the visit of the Nazarene reformer to Jericho, whom the poor people were following in great numbers. Incognito, Zacchaeus mingled with the mob in order to see the famed Carpenter—but he carried his I-gotta-drag card with him.

Zacchaeus was little and he noticed a sycamore tree from which bleacherites had been driven by the police. His card identified him and he was hoisted into the tree.

When the Carpenter came by he stopped under the tree and beckoned to Zacchaeus.

"Zacchaeus," he said, "come down, I'm going to lunch with you."

The despised collector was flattered and trotted along beside the tall Carpenter. The rabble was angered:

"Just as I thought," one muttered. "The prophets plead for the poor and dine with the rich."

The scene then is in Zacchaeus' palatial residence in a smart suburb of Jericho.

Finally, the scenario preacher with deft descriptive phrase made visual the famous conversation between host and guest.

"Half of my goods I will give to feed the poor. And if I have defrauded any man, I shall make restitution," Zacchaeus is made to say in the presence of the multitude at the rich man's gate.

Returning to the dining hall the Carpenter asks him:

"What did you see that made you desire this peace?"

"Good master, I saw mirrored in your eyes the face of the Zacchaeus I was meant to be."

Mr. Douglas, formerly a Lutheran minister, is now a minister in the Congregational church.

Crocheted Doily Combines Three Striking Designs

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Every bride loves to display exquisite luncheon sets made and given to her by a doting aunt, mother, or grandmother. Linens are beautiful, but it is with special pride that crocheted doilies and luncheon sets are brought forth. The unusual crochet pattern in today's doily is a combination of fan, cone, and mesh designs created of white mercerized crochet cotton No. 60. When they are finished they measure approximately 9½ inches across and are particularly suitable for snacks served at the bridge table.

For instructions for crocheting the fan, cone, and mesh doily, No. X-105, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

About the liquid lip rouge, which is creating so much comment:

It's most important to follow directions carefully. Women who do this report that it is most satisfactory; they like it because it doesn't smear or smudge off.

The liquid lip stain, as you probably know, comes in a small bottle with an applicator. There is also an accompanying little bottle of remover in case your aim is bad.

It's very important to remember that the lips must be clean, completely dry, and free of cream or lipstick before you apply the liquid coloring. You must also press the applicator against the inside of the bottle to squeeze out any surplus liquid. You don't want the applicator dripping with the stain. The applicator is wielded then just as a lipstick would be.

The next step is important, too. You must keep the lips separated until they are absolutely dry. They'll feel sticky for this period, but this sticky feeling will pass completely when the stain has dried.

The liquid lip rouge is in six shades, all attractive.

Nuts are packed full of calories. They're heavy with nutritious oils, and that's why they're so filling. In small amounts they're very good food for most of us, but they should be looked upon as food, not as a snack to nibble at between meals.

Native American nuts include walnuts, black walnuts, hickory nuts, hazelnuts, beechnuts, butternuts [a type of walnut], pecans, and peanuts.

Chestnuts used to be native in this country, but since a blight wiped out most of the American trees, most chestnuts have been imported. Other imported nuts are Brazils, cashews, almonds, filberts, pistachios, coconut.

Common Kinds of Nuts.

ALMONDS: The almond tree somewhat resembles the peach tree. It's interesting to note, in this respect, how much the kernel of the peach seed resembles the almond in shape and flavor. Almonds are classed commercially as bitter and sweet. Sweet almonds may be hard shell, soft shell, or paper shell type. The terms Jordan, Valencia, and so forth designate types of kernel. It takes 3½ pounds of almonds in the shell to make a pound shelled.

BRAZIL NUTS: These are imported from South America. The tree from which they come is gigantic. The nuts grow inside a hard, round shell about five inches in diameter. From fifteen to twenty-five nuts, in their own hard, three sided shells, grow in each. Two and a half pounds of Brazil nuts in the shell make a pound unshelled.

CASHEWS: Cashews grow on a small tropical shrub similar to the sumac. The plant is said to be related to poison ivy. The shrub is native to the West Indies, but also is grown in eastern tropical countries and, to a limited extent, in Florida. Cashews have skyrocketed in popularity within the last few years.

CHESTNUTS: As has been said, these nuts now are imported for the commercial market. Unlike other nuts, chestnuts aren't oily. They consist chiefly of carbohydrates. Preserved chestnuts are known as marrons.

FILBERTS, HAZELNUTS: There is little difference between these two. When the husks are removed it is almost impossible to tell one from another. Both are sold as filberts. Some of them are home grown, some imported. The nuts grow in clusters on the trees.

HICKORY NUTS: The hickory tree isn't extensively cultivated, but many of the wild hickory trees in this country produce nuts with hard, bonelike shells. There has been some experimentation which has produced thin shelled nuts much easier to crack.

PEANUTS: Peanuts are one of this country's largest nut crops. There are three main classes: Virginia, Spanish, and Runner types. Peanuts are really a legume, not a nut. They are botanically classed with peas and beans. A pound and a half of peanuts in the shell make a pound shelled, as a rule.

PECANS: This is another important American crop. Botanically the pecan is a hickory nut. It has been greatly improved by cultivation, and is considered our best native nut. The shell may be thick and hard, or of the soft, paperlike type. About two and one-half pounds in the shell equal a pound of shelled pecans.

WALNUTS: The "English" walnut originated in Persia. It is extensively cultivated in California. The black walnut, which has a rough, much thicker and harder shell, grows in the middle west and in the east.

Other less common nuts include lychee nuts, the Chinese nuts, which taste something like raisins and come in warty brown shells; pinenuts, native to America, which grows in pine cones; pistachios, the tiny green kernels of the fruit of the pistachio tree.

It was on one of Miss Ruffner's frequent visits to her sisters, Mrs. Harrison T. Todd [Marianna Ruffner] and Mrs. Edward B. Wintersteen [Virginia Ruffner], that she and Mr. Leach met and became engaged. He has visited in Highland Park several times, and has met many of Miss Ruffner's friends.

When Miss Ruffner goes east shortly to visit her sisters and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Ruffner, who also live in Schenectady, she will combine house-hunting with a little whirl of parties. Miss Ruffner, who was introduced to society in 1931, is a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school and attended Pine Manor Junior college. Mr. Leach was graduated in 1927 from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

REDSKINS BEAT LIONS; BEARS WHIP CARDS

RALLY IN THIRD PERIOD BRINGS 7 TO 5 TRIUMPH

Packers Bowl Over Dodgers, 35 to 7.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The champion Washington Redskins came from behind with a third period touchdown to defeat the Detroit Lions, 7 to 5, in a National Professional Football league game today. A crowd of 42,850, largest ever to see a football game in Detroit, witnessed the advent of the game in Briggs stadium, home of the Detroit Tigers.

Washington got the break that decided the contest early in the third period when Willie Wilkin, tackle, blocked a Detroit punt and the ball bounced out of bounds on the Lions' 17 yard line. Bill Hartman passed to Andy Farkas, former University of Detroit player, on the seven yard line. Farkas then plunged over in three plays and Riley Smith kicked from placement.

Lions Score in First Period.

Detroit scored all of its points in the opening quarter. Regis Monahan place kicked from Washington's 30 yard line and on the kickoff following the field goal Farkas was tackled behind his own goal line for a safety.

Both teams had scoring chances in the final period, Washington driving to the Detroit three yard line after a pass interception and Monahan attempting a place kick from the Redskins' 37 yard line with less than a minute left. The try was blocked.

It was Detroit's second defeat in four starts and Washington's third victory against one defeat and a tie.

PACKERS, 35; DODGERS, 7

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The Green Bay Packers smashed and passed their way to a 35 to 7 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in a National Professional league game played in midsummer heat today before a crowd of 13,000.

The Wisconsin team opened with a terrific drive and scored before the game was five minutes old. From that time on, Brooklyn never had a chance as the Packers, playing their best football of the year, ripped the easterners' line to shreds and passed all over the field.

The first score came on five plays, with Cecil Isbell tossing to Joe Laws for the touchdown. Tiny Engebretsen kicked the extra point. The next score came on a plunge by Clarke Hinkle from the 1 yard line. Hinkle kicked the added point. Brooklyn scored in the second period on a pass from Ace Parker to Barrett for eleven yards. Parker's kick was good.

The Packers added another touchdown in the second period, on a fourteen yard run by Andy Uram. Don Hutson kicked the extra point. A pass from Isbell to Hutson, for thirty-three yards, scored another Green Bay touchdown in the third period, and again Hinkle kicked the extra point. Bob Monnett passed to Berny Scherer, Packer end, for twenty-two yards and the final touchdown. Hinkle made good the point. Lineups:

Von Cramm Is Released from Prison

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Baron Gottfried von Cramm, German tennis star, was released on parole today from Lehrterstrasse prison, where he had almost five months still to serve on a morals charge.

The remainder of his one year sentence, which would have been up next March 7, will be suspended for two years, during which he "must prove worthy of this act of mercy."

A large automobile awaited Baron von Cramm outside the prison gate and he was taken to an undisclosed destination. It was known, however, that he was called for by his brother and it was believed he was taken to his mother's home at Brueggen, near Hanover.

Baron von Cramm was arrested March 5 on his return from a tennis tour of the United States and Australia. He was convicted by a criminal court jury May 14 of improper relations with an 18 year old Jew, Manasse Herbst, but the two months he had waited in custody for trial were deducted from his term.

IOWA PRISON TEAM DEFEATS NEWTON, 20 TO 6

Fort Madison, Ia., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The state penitentiary Bulldogs' defeated the Newton Merchants, 20 to 6, in the Bulldogs' hardest game of the season today.

Newton scored first on passes in the first quarter, but the Bulldogs tightened and put on the power for a score in the second period. The second Bulldog touchdown came when the kickoff was grounded behind the Newton goal line, and the final score came in the third quarter with a fifteen yard run from scrimmage.

ST. MARY'S FAST FINISH ROUTS PORTLAND, 32-7

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—(AP)—St. Mary's Gaels put on a fourth period rally today to smother University of Portland, 32 to 7. A crowd of approximately 8,000 saw a close, hard fought, encounter turn into a rout.

The Gaels, scoring touchdowns in the first and second periods, saw their lead cut down midway in the third quarter when the Oregonians rushed over a touchdown after an 80 yard drive to make the score 13 to 7. St. Mary's fears were dissipated, however, as the contest moved into the final fifteen minutes, during which the Gaels scored three times, twice as the result of intercepted passes.

Nikkanen Betters Own World Javelin Record

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Yrjo Nikkanen, Finnish athlete, bettered his own unofficial world record for the javelin throw today with a toss of 78.70 meters [258 feet 2½ inches] in a track meet in Kotka. His previous mark was 77.97 meters [255 feet 9¾ inches]. The accepted world record, established in 1936 by Matti Jarvinen of Finland and approved last winter, is 253 feet 4½ inches.

'It Might Have Been' Saddens Wolverines

BY WILFRID SMITH.

"We wouldn't feel worse if we'd been beaten 20 to 0," Fritz Crisler, Michigan coach, said as he watched the disconsolate Wolverines shed their uniforms in their dressing room while outside thousands of Minnesota homecomers celebrated the Gophers' 7 to 6 triumph.

"That was one victory I thought the boys had coming to them. They played magnificently."

Statistically, even Minnesota's ardent supporters might have agreed, but the Gophers' triumph Saturday, their fifth consecutive victory, still leaves Michigan far ahead in the series. And Minnesota remembers many games when statistics favored Minnesota but Michigan won.

Friedman's Kick Wins Game.

In 1926, for instance, Benny Oosterbaan picked up a Minnesota fumble and ran for a touchdown. Benny Friedman's place kick then won the game, 7 to 6. In 1930 and 1931, one quick thrust, a punt return, an off tackle run of fifty-six yards, hurled back Minnesota which had outplayed Michigan. Those were the years Crisler sought the little brown jug for Minnesota.

Harry Newman's field goal beat Minnesota, 3 to 0, in 1932, and the following year there was a scoreless tie with Minnesota still piling up yardage and first downs.

This Minnesota team, still undefeated in the Big Ten race, knows the numbing sensation of sudden defeat. For these boys well remember last year's fourth quarter pass by Nebraska for a 14 to 9 victory and they recall how Notre Dame won, 7 to 6. And before this season is over, mark the prediction, Minnesota will be whipped.

Gopher Attack Hamstrung.

Without speed, with no passing threat unless Harold Van Every is playing, and with Wilbur Moore, most valuable back on the varsity now relegated temporarily to the side lines by injury, the Gophers' once great attack is hamstrung.

Minnesota's line yielded to Michigan's magnificent eighty-nine yard drive for a touchdown, an assault that definitly proved Michigan has returned to lay claim to rulership in the west. Michigan quite likely will not win the conference title this season, although that is not an impossibility, but the Wolverines will be feared no matter whom they meet.

Michigan has speed, a fast driving line, hard running backs, better than average passing. And its morale has been restored.

Harmon's Star Is Bright.

Brightest star in the galaxy of Michigan sophomores is Tom Harmon. And none was more keenly disappointed in defeat than he, for it was Harmon's fumble which gave Minnesota its

CAPTURE AERIAL BATTLE, 34-28; KEEP 1ST PLACE

21,614 See Rookies Gain Stardom.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

A desperate band of Cardinals, fighting to keep their jobs, forced the Bears to collaborate in one of the most spectacular games in the history of professional football in Wrigley field yesterday. Three hours and 12 minutes of play produced nine touchdowns, forty-nine passes, and a severe case of hoarseness for 21,614 fans as the Bears achieved their fourth victory of the season, 34 to 28, to remain in first place in the National league.

Release of five men recently and the promise that more dismissals were in the offing whipped the Cardinals into a fighting fury that carried them to a seven point lead early in the first quarter. A slipup in the pass defense enabled the Bears to tie the score before the period was over and the Cardinals lapsed into the mopey, inept state that had brought them four defeats before yesterday's game. At the end of the half the Bears led, 20 to 7.

Cardinals Fight Back.

The Bears increased their lead to 27 to 7 early in the third period, but from there on they had all they could do to stave off defeat as the Cardinals passed their way to three touchdowns. Both teams scored twice in the third period and the Cardinals made the ninth touchdown of the game in the fourth.

New players, making their debuts before Chicago fans, played leading rôles in the day's heroics. Frank Patrick, former Pittsburgh full back and a member of The Tribune's 1938 All-Star team; Jack Robbins of Arkansas, All-Star teammate of Patrick; Al Babartsky, another All-Star from Fordham, and Sam Agee of Vanderbilt, a rookie full back, measured up to stardom in the Cardinal attack. Dick Bassi, a guard from Santa Clara, who ran sixty-five yards for a touchdown, and Joe Maniaci, formerly of Fordham, who was purchased from Brooklyn, were equally brilliant on the Bear side.

Here's How It Was.

To prevent your becoming as confused as the accountants in the press box were, the nine touchdowns in the order of their production, were as follows:

1. Scored early in the first period by Full Back Buddy Parker, a sparkplug in the Cardinal attack all day, on a two yard plunge over center to climax a fifty-eight yard march. Chief items in the march were a nineteen yard end run by Dwight Sloan, another Cardinal standout, and a twenty-two yard smash inside the Bears' left tackle by Parker on consecutive plays. Patrick kicked the extra point.

2. Scored by Ray Nolting, veteran Bear half back, on a fifty-six yard third down pass from Quarter Back Bernie Masterson four plays after the Cardinals had taken the lead. Maniaci kicked the extra point, tying the score.

Francis Reaches the Heights.

3. Scored early in the second quarter by Sam Francis, full back who played his greatest game as a professional since joining the Bears last year. Francis went inside the Cardinals' left tackle for one yard, winding up a fifty-six yard advance in which Masterson passed fifty yards to Eggs Manske, an end returned to the Bears by the Pittsburgh Pirates four days ago. This pass brought the ball to the Cardinals' 11 yard line.

4. Scored by Bassi on a sixty-five yard run with a fumble after the gun had been fired to end the half. This play started at the insistence of the Cardinals, who claimed they had called time an instant before the gun. The Bears were brought back and the Cardinals, after being set back five yards for too many times out, were given one chance from the

TURNER MAKES CHICAGO DEBUT WITH CELEBRON

Middleweights Clash in Marigold Tonight.

Irish Bob Turner, who left Newport News, Va., two years ago in search of fame and fortune in New York, will try his luck in a ten round bout with Billy Celebron, Rockford middleweight, in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight.

Turner, who observed his twenty-fifth birthday last month, has not appeared in Chicago. In six contests this year the rangy, rugged boxer scored three victories and fought a draw with Willie [Gorilla] Jones. His victims were John Henry Johnson, Pennah Ronzola, and Bobby Jones. He knocked out Jones and Ronzola. In his two other appearances he was defeated by Allen Matthews of St. Louis, and Freddy Steele, former division champion.

Celebron is determined to register a triumph if for no other reason than to earn a rematch with Ken Overlin. Overlin blasted the 27 year old Billy's hopes Sept. 19, but victory this evening may give the former international Golden Gloves winner a chance to wipe out this setback. Prior to the Overlin clash Bill whipped Tony Zale, Pete Petroskey, and Harold Brown.

Jimmy Buckler, lightweight from Indianapolis, will meet Bob Tinsley of the west side in the five round semi-final. Matches of four rounds bring together Eddie Meleski and Billy Sal, Sam Scully and Earl Gibbs, and Hank Pershing and Young Armando Santiago.

Jim Londos will make his second Chicago start in less than a week in a wrestling headliner in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, tonight. Londos, who defeated Fritz Von Schacht in Rainbo Fronton Wednesday, is paired with Hans Schnabel on this occasion. Von Schacht and Ignacio Martinez are in the secondary feature. Other encounters involve Jack Conley and Jack [Bad Man] Brown, Frankie Hart and George Brown, and Al Williams and Rudy Kay. . . . It is understood radio station WIND will pay Marigold promoters $250 for the privilege of broadcasting the Celebron-Turner engagement. . . . The Oscar Rankin-Teddy Yarosz battle booked for tonight in Pittsburgh has been postponed until next Monday. . . . Promoter Jack Beatty of Peoria expects tonight's ten rounder between Ken Overlin and Jack Moran to cost him more than $200. F. M.

BELLOISE FIGHTS ARCHIBALD FOR TITLE OF A SORT

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—At least a part of the confusion that followed Henry Armstrong's decision to abandon the world featherweight championship and concentrate upon defending his other two titles, should be cleared up tomorrow night.

Mike Belloise of New York, who once was recognized as champion in New York, and Joey Archibald of Pawtucket, R. I., the No. 1 contender on the National Boxing association list, are due to fight it out at 15 rounds in St. Nicholas palace. The New York State Athletic commission has promised to recognize the winner as champion, but the N. B. A. doesn't concur.

At any rate no one is likely to win full title recognition without beating the winner of tomorrow's scrap and as a result a capacity house of 6,000 is expected to attend. Archibald beat Belloise a couple of months ago but Mike has been making a brilliant comeback after a siege of illness and he is given a good chance to reverse that decision.

DUCKS FEED HIGH AS HIGH WATER GIVES UP ACORNS

McGregor, Ia., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—With much of the usual duck feed in the upper Mississippi river area destroyed by high water, ducks are feasting on acorns, a food "they are crazy about," but seldom get. This fall large areas of river bottom lands with a heavy growth of oaks are inundated, and the trees are dropping acorns into the water where the ducks can get them, instead of on the ground.

Hunters say they are bagging ducks with their crops full of acorns. One hunter, Harvey Frantz, reported finding sixteen in a mallard's crop.

BEARS PASS, RUN TO 34-28 VICTORY OVER CARDINALS

Halt Scoring Threat in Closing Minutes.

Bears' 35 yard line. Robbins fumbled the pass from center and Bassi picked it up, breaking away for a touchdown with Maniaci, Francis, Plasman and Manske as an escort. Manders' try for the extra point was blocked.

A Pass Produces a Score.

5. Scored by Dick Plasman, Bear end, early in the third period on a first down pass from Masterson, who had recovered Parker's fumble on the Cardinals' 47 yard line. Plasman sidestepped Patrick and ran eighteen yards to complete the forty-seven yard gain. Maniaci kicked the extra point.

6. Scored by Bill Smith, veteran Cardinal end. Smith went over on a twenty-six yard pass from Sloan after the Cardinals had resumed a march started with the kickoff by recovering a lateral which Rookie Ray Johnson of the Bears threw wild. Gaynell Tinsley recovered and the score came on the first down. Patrick kicked the extra point to make the score 27 to 14.

Maniaci Gets One.

7. Scored on a ten yard run around the Cardinals' right end by Maniaci to wind up a fifty-nine yard drive that started with the reception of the kickoff. This advance included two passes, Masterson to Plasman, who lateraled to End George Wilson, and another pass, Masterson to Wilson, that gained thirty yards and put the ball on the 10 yard line. Maniaci added the extra point.

8. Scored by Patrick in the final minute of the third period on a seventy-one yard pass from Robbins, who completed five of six passes for fifty-nine yards in the seventy-nine yard march which started with Agee's fumble of the kickoff on the Cardinals' 21 yard line. Agee's twenty-one yard smash at tackle moved the ball to the 20 yard line but he lost a yard before the scoring play. Patrick added the extra point and the score was 34 to 21.

Agee Drives Across.

9. Scored by Agee on a three inch drive off the Bears' left tackle to conclude an eighty-five yard air raid. Agee and Robbins passing to Tinsley, the league's leading receiver, and Smith, completed four of five passes, one by interference, in this assault. The interference was called on Maniaci, who shoved Tinsley in the end zone on Robbins' pass and moved the ball seventeen yards up to the 1 yard line. Agee went over on two smashes. Patrick kicked the extra point.

Bassi's touchdown was the deciding play of the game. Only Dougal Russell's insistence that the officials give the Cardinals one more chance in the first half prevented them from making off with the verdict. Bassi, heaving and puffing as he lugged his 220 pounds, was given excellent blocking. Bree Cuppoletti and Phil Dougherty, rookie center, gave chase, but were unable to penetrate the shield of interference that slowed up to protect Bassi. Cuppoletti was taken out on the 20 yard line. Dougherty raced ahead of the interference into the end zone and attempted to come out to make the tackle. Maniaci hit him just enough to slow him up and he was unable to get at Bassi until the guard had lumbered up to the goal line.

It's a Moral Victory.

Statistically, it was the Cardinals' game. They made nineteen first downs to the Bears' eight. Their running game piled up 165 yards to the Bears' eighty-seven, and their fourteen completions out of thirty-six passes gave them 175 yards, for a total of 340. The Bears completed six of thirteen passes for 166 yards and had a total gain of 253 yards.

But to the Bears belong the credit and the victory for remaining alert and waging a relentless fight, while the Cardinals allowed themselves one period of sulking before deciding to resume the pace they had set at the outset of the game.

GIANTS BEAT EAGLES

New York, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The New York Giants took advantage of fumbles to trounce the Philadelphia Eagles, 17 to 7, before 33,187 in the Polo Grounds today. Both Giant touchdowns, as well as the Eagles' only score, were the direct results of fumbles. The odd three points came on a third quarter twenty yard field goal by Ward Cuff.

Jay Arnold fumbled one for the Eagles on the Giants' 23 yard line at the start of the second period. The veteran Bull Karcis recovered the ball and galloped seventy-seven yards for New York's first score. Late in the same period Dave Smukler of Philadelphia fumbled on his 22 yard line and Jim Howell recovered the ball. Five plays later Tuffy Leemans cut over right end to score touchdown No. 2.

Hank Soar fumbled for the Giants on his 25 yard line midway of the third period and Emmett Mortell recovered for Philadelphia. Three plays later Mortell heaved a thirty-four yard pass to Elwood Dow in the left corner and Philadelphia had its touchdown. The lineups:

Tony Slanina's 265, 235, and 236 for a 736 series enabled the Prager Beers to shoot 2,958 for high series last night in the Classic league at the West Town Recreation. But despite the total the Pragers lost two games to the leading Pabst Blue Ribbons.

In winning two games from the Baby Ruth Candies, the Ambrosia Beers tied the Schlitz Beers for fifth place. Schlitz took two games from the Thompson Restaurants. The Monarch Beers defeated the Power House Candies twice.

MURRA SHOOTS 66 AND REVOLTA LOSES A TITLE

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Mike Murra, Wichita Country club professional, beat out Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., with a subpar 66 today to win $500 first money in the $1,600 Wichita open golf tournament.

Murra, invincible with the putter, carded a 277 for the seventy-two holes. His closing round was just one stroke short of the course record of 65 set by Revolta Friday. Revolta's eight foot putt on the final hole rimmed the cup, missing a tie and giving the former P. G. A. champion a par 71 for the final round, and 278 for the seventy-two holes. Other scores and winnings included:

E. J. Harrison, Oak Park, Chicago 140—71—74—285, $125.

BOSTWICK POLO TEAM DEFEATS WESTBURY, 12-5

Old Westbury, N. Y., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The high goal polo season closed today with the Bostwick field riders turning back Old Westbury, 12 to 5, on Bostwick field.

The brilliant work of G. H. [Pete] Bostwick, aided by Louis Stoddard, Barney Balding, and Bobby Strawbridge, proved too much for Westbury, which had Stewart Iglehart at the No. 3 position. Bostwick registered six goals while Stoddard tallied four times and Balding twice.

St. Benedict Scores 25-6 Victory Over St. Norbert's

De Pere, Wis., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Scoring a touchdown in every quarter, St. Benedict college football team romped over St. Norbert's college today, 25 to 6.

Thebaud Rams a Rock; There's No Race—Again

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 16.—(AP)—A thick fog and absence of a breeze today held up the third race between two schooners for the sailing championship of the North Atlantic, and once more the doughty contestants made ready for battle off this old fishing port.

Capt. Angus Walters had taken Bluenose, the big Canadian defender of the international fishermen's trophy, to Boston, with the expectation of a race today with the American challenger, Gertrude L. Thebaud, but conditions proved impossible.

Capt. Ben Pine left his home port here shortly after dawn with the Thebaud under tow, but the vessel was still in the harbor when she struck hard on a submerged rock.

Capt. Pine immediately turned about and had the challenger hauled out on the Marine railway in Rocky Neck, where damage was found to be slight. The American captain asked the race committee for a postponement and the group decided that the next race would be sailed off Gloucester Tuesday—twice around an 18 mile triangle. The committee, before hearing of Thebaud's mishap, had set the race for tomorrow. Each schooner has won one race in the three out of five series—Thebaud off Nahant last Sunday and Bluenose off Gloucester Thursday.

'It Might Have Been' Saddens Wolverines

opening. Even then, however, without Van Every, who threw the two passes that brought victory, Michigan would have won. And to continue the list of might-have-been plays, when Fred Trosko, Michigan's defensive right half, slipped and fell, he forfeited almost certain opportunity to knock down Van Every's pass to Bill Johnson, a pass that advanced Minnesota to Michigan's 13 yard line.

Northwestern's players would be singing low if Charlie Maag's place kick in the fourth quarter Saturday had been good. Instead Maag missed and the game ended scoreless. Even so, Northwestern can point to its offensive record of sixteen first downs to six. But the Wildcats failed in their scoring chances although they proved their superiority in speed, in passing, and in line play.

This scoreless tie reprieved the Buckeyes, who still can finish the Big Ten season with five victories, but Ohio State, like Minnesota, is no longer a favorite. Purdue, Illinois, and Michigan—the Buckeyes' final opponents—must certainly be rated on a par, and Purdue and Michigan are far faster than the lumbering Ohio State machine.

Purdue Still Has a Vote.

Purdue may have an important vote in settling the Big Ten championship. The Boilermakers surprised Fordham Saturday with a 6 to 6 tie when Lou Brock and Jack Brown, as fine a pair of backs as you'll find on any campus, collaborated in the fourth period. Fordham outgained Purdue, but the Boilermaker defense, which the week before had yielded only one touchdown to Minnesota, maintained that defensive average.

Purdue and Wisconsin meet this week, and the Badgers, who succumbed to superior Pittsburgh power Saturday, well may fear the result. Wisconsin put up a stern fight, but Pitt's great backs, who turn in what the football trade calls "long gainers," were too fast and versatile.

Pittsburgh is dangerous from any position on the field, and this also seems to be true of Notre Dame. A pass and a punt return brought two touchdowns to the Irish Saturday and these defeated Illinois, 14 to 6.

Hawks Out of Cellar.

Chicago lost to Iowa, 27 to 14, and thus the Hawkeyes probably have escaped last place in the conference, a spot shared with the Maroons last year.

While conference games ran to prediction, except for the Northwestern-Ohio State game, Saturday had more than its quota of upsets. Alabama's defeat by Tennessee, 13 to 0, was surprising in view of the Crimson Tide's easy victory over Southern California. But Tennessee has always been a worthy foe for Alabama and was beaten only 14 to 7 last year.

Syracuse's rally defeated Cornell, 19 to 17, for the second year and this possibly was the real surprise in the east although few had anticipated Princeton's victory over Pennsylvania, 13 to 0. Columbia couldn't maintain its pace. With the handicap of the battle with Army the previous week Columbia fell before Colgate, 12 to 0. But at the same time, it should be recalled that Colgate had fought and lost to Duke, 7 to 0, on the same day Columbia beat Army.

Dartmouth Leads in East.

Yale finally came through, upsetting the Navy, 9 to 7, but Harvard fell victim to Army's thrilling finish, 20 to 17. Dartmouth now holds the eastern spotlight by whipping Brown, 34 to 13.

California, defending Pacific coast conference champion and Rose Bowl winner, still marches toward the same goals. Saturday California whipped U. C. L. A., 20 to 7. Southern California kept pace by winning from Washington State, 19 to 6. The University of Washington, still seeking its first victory of the year, was eliminated from the conference race by Oregon State, 13 to 6. Stanford surprised Oregon, 27 to 18.

Modern Defensive Play Keeps Linemen on the Move.

[This is the seventh of a series of eleven articles. Others will appear daily.]

DEFENSE.

The old type of line defense was a seven man line. Today we have the five, the six, and the seven man line. When the center starts as the middle man of the seven but ends up as a back, we might say that we have a six and one-half man line.

There are two types of line style. There is the style where a lineman on the defense gets down with both hands on the ground and, using this low start, leaves his mark as the ball is snapped. He uses the head, shoulders, and body in his charge into the offensive back field. When he is past the line of scrimmage, he brings his hands into use.

More common and more generally used is the semi-crouching start, with the use of the hands first on the opponents, then the use of the shoulders and the body in an attempt to get through to the ball carrier.

As in all cases of style, a combination of both is used, the center of the line playing sprinter style, and the flanks playing semi-crouch.

A good charging line is the backbone of a defense. Each man has two duties—to protect his own territory and then get to the ball carrier. If this is done properly, we have what coaches call a cup defense; that is, an attempt to drive play into a crowded central spot. The ends and tackles are in a position to get in a little faster than the center men, who meet more solid opposition.

The guards' duties are to hold up the center of the line and to protect against plunges and delayed bucks started by the cross buck, criscross, or spinner. The guard, as a rule, will charge low and, in dangerous territory he will "submarine" and pile up on himself as many foes as he can.

Some centers stay in and play a type of game similar to that of a guard. We also have the center who stays out and plays a defensive full back. Then there is the center who plays in and out, who charges and goes through, or who checks, drifts, or drops back as a secondary defense man.

The keystone of the defense is the tackle. He must be half guard—half end. As a guard he must play a charging game; as an end, he must sometimes play a drifting game. He must be able to use his hands and legs to protect himself from wing backs and ends, and secondarily to use his body to pile up interference and his arms to reach out to tackle.

The chief duty of an end is to keep the play from going around him and to drive it into the line. If he can break the interference and tackle the runner he has more of a chance of winning his letter.

Oklahoma and Iowa State Run to Form

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Oklahoma and Iowa State turned in more or less expected victories in Big Six football games yesterday, and today the conference standings were split evenly between unbeaten teams and teams that have not won a game.

Sheer power enabled Oklahoma to defeat Kansas, 19 to 0. Iowa State, which used a safety to edge out Nebraska a week ago, again was aided by one in downing Missouri, 16 to 13.

Huskers Get a Tie.

Nebraska showed it is coming along fast by battling Indiana to a scoreless tie, and Kansas State bolstered its position as a real threat by defeating Marquette Friday night, 6 to 0.

Oklahoma, with a strong line and some good backs, dominated the game at Lawrence. Kansas fought valiantly, but only once offered even a mild threat.

The Iowa State-Missouri game again demonstrated Missouri is liable to win any game. Sophomore Paul Christman added fine running to his passing accomplishments—he completed fourteen of twenty-eight for 218 yards—but Iowa State was just a little too smooth and experienced for Paul and his teammates.

Kischer Does His Stuff.

Everett Kischer, Cyclone quarter, continued to show that pound for pound he's just about the best back in the nation, and Ed Bock again was outstanding in a fine Iowa State line.

The Nebraska-Oklahoma game at Norman highlights this week's program, with the Oklahomans favored. Iowa State is given an edge over Kansas at Ames, Kansas State rates at least an even chance against Indiana. Missouri should cash in on its aerial circus against Washington at St. Louis.

A SPECIAL PREPARATION FOR SHAVING
FOR THE 1 MAN IN 7 WHO SHAVES DAILY
It's Not a SOAP... Not Greasy... Needs No Brush... No Irritating Alkalies

Daily shaving leaves many men's faces raw and sensitive. This is especially true of the man who, because of his business and social status, must shave every day.

To meet this condition, Williams has now developed a special cream for daily shavers. It's called Glider. After washing face thoroughly with soap and warm water to remove razor-dulling grit, you spread on Glider quickly and easily with your fingers. No brush. No lather. Not sticky or greasy.

A superabundance of moisture is contained in this rich, smooth cream. It softens each whisker right down to the skin, yet forms a protective layer over your face to keep blade from scraping. Swiftly and gently your razor glides over your skin without tearing or irritating.

TRY GLIDER AT OUR EXPENSE: Send your name and address on a penny post card, for a generous FREE tube of Glider "No-Brush" Cream. The J. B. Williams Co., Dept. CT-12, Glastonbury, Conn., makers of Glider and Aqua Velva, who have been making fine shaving preparations for more than 98 years.

NEW PHILIPPINE ENVOY TO HANDLE FREEDOM PLANS

Islands' Vice President Leaves for U. S. Talks.

MANILA, Oct. 16.—(AP)—Commonwealth Vice President Sergio Osmena departed for the United States today, commissioned by President Manuel Quezon to represent the Philippine government in formulating contemplated legislation to change the independence plans for the islands.

H. M. Elizalde.

Only last Wednesday Hoaquin M. Elizalde, newly appointed Philippine resident commissioner in Washington, announced he was "capable and authorized to handle any legislation arising" from the report of the joint Philippine-American committee which recommended changes in the independence program.

Official Representative.

Quezon announced he was sending Osmena to Washington "as my official representative to present the views" of the commonwealth regarding legislative proposals to carry out the joint committee's recommendations.

Under the Tydings-McDuffie act the Philippines were to have been given complete independence in 1946, at the end of a ten year transitional period as a commonwealth.

A joint committee of Filipinos and Americans was constituted last year to work out a specific program for the islands after 1946. While it deliberated, Japan moved into China and the resultant conflict gave rise to suggestions that the American flag be kept in the Philippines beyond 1946.

McNutt Suggestions Ignored.

Paul V. McNutt, American high commissioner to the Philippines, suggested a "realistic reëxamination" of the independence program in the light of far eastern conditions.

The joint committee took no cognizance of the McNutt suggestions. It recommended the granting of political independence in 1946, as originally planned, and "economic independence" by 1960 through a gradual abandonment of trade benefits.

REVOLT AGAINST MOSCOW SWEEPS FRENCH UNIONS

Workers Believe Reds' Path Leads to War.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The revolt among French workers against Moscow ideology and against the communist party is gaining momentum, in the opinion of qualified political observers here.

The cause of this revolt is the reluctance of the French masses to engage in a war of political systems and the growing belief that communist propaganda during the Czechoslovak crisis was aimed at provoking such a war. So far there is no sign of a break in party discipline in the communist ranks, but other workers' parties, labor syndicates, and left wing intellectuals are split as they have not been for years.

Labor's Power Threatened.

Hitherto, all of these groups have been dominated by elements which adhered, in principle at least, to the foreign policy advocated by the communists. Since Munich, however, anti-communist and pacifist elements have become so much stronger and outspoken that both the Socialist party and the General Confederation of Labor are faced with the menace of a split which would destroy them as political powers.

In the Confederation of Labor the quarrel between the pacifists and the war party has reopened an older quarrel between communist sympathizers and syndicalists who are indignant at the attempt to convert the labor movement into a political machine. Efforts are being made to hush the quarrel, but it is not impossible that the syndicalist congress in Nantes next month will end in the destruction of the syndical unity and formation of rival labor movements like the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. in America.

Socialists Disunited.

The split in the Socialists' ranks is nearly as serious, though former Premier Leon Blum has succeeded in avoiding an open break so far by a straddling policy. The tension between the pacifists, led by the party's secretary, Paul Faure, and the war party, led by the fire-eater, Jean Zyromski, is great, however. It is so great, in fact, that last night when a small group of bitter-enders tried to heckle speakers at a peace meeting organized by Socialist clubs of the Paris region there was a small riot with fisticuffs inside the hall.

Political observers are closely watching the growth of the anti-communist movement here and many of them predict sweeping changes in the French political picture in the next few months.

First Night Mail

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Jack Knight tells Mary Carlisle of films good-by at Burbank, Cal., as he prepares to take off on flight to show progress of aviation. He made the first night air mail flight in 1923.

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Capt. Jack Knight, pioneer airmail pilot, late today plopped his anti-quated De Havilland biplane into Las Vegas' airport on the first day of his flight from Los Angeles to New York.

Flying for United Air Lines and offering himself and his 1918 vintage plane as a demonstration of how times have changed in aeronautics, Knight winged the 265 miles in five hours, exceedingly slow time.

His ancient craft, reconditioned, is powered by a Liberty engine. It is identical, except for braces here and there, to the sort of craft he flew twenty years ago before the days of modern, metal transports. Tomorrow he will continue to Salt Lake City.

Belgian Fascist Voters Fail to Upset Political Balance

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct. 16.—(AP)—The entrance of Fascist Rexists into Belgium's communal elections failed to disturb the political balance in the country's 2,671 communal councils, early returns from today's election indicated. Catholics, Socialists, and Liberals generally maintained previous positions gained in the elections which are held every six years. A Liberal was fatally injured in an election clash.

REV. C. P. MORRIS OF BELMONT PARK CHURCH IS DEAD

Baptists of His Flock Built Own Edifice.

The Rev. Clinton Pope Morris, pastor of the Belmont Park Baptist church at 3053 North Linder avenue, died last night in his home at 3054 North Luna avenue after an illness of six weeks. He was 54 years old and a native of Texas.

Rev. C. P. Morris.

A minister for more than 25 years and a former missionary to China, the Rev. Mr. Morris had been in Chicago for ten years. He formerly held pastorates in California. The building of the Belmont Park church was one of his outstanding achievements. The need for the church was great in 1933, but there was little money to finance it, so members of his congregation—carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers, electricians, and others—volunteered their labor. The church was put up at a cost of only $4,200 for materials.

The Rev. Mr. Morris was a former member of the Baptist Ministers' conference. He is survived by his widow, Zollie; a son, Elton of Midland, Mich., and a daughter, Zollie D., of Fresno, Cal. Services will be held in the church at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

MOVE TO REDUCE RADIO POWER OF STATION WLW

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The communications commission's three member superpower committee today recommended that the commission discontinue the authority of station WLW, in Cincinnati, to broadcast with power of 500 kilowatts.

WLW, the only station in the United States using power in excess of 50 kilowatts, has been allowed to broadcast with 500 kilowatts on an experimental basis since May, 1934. If the committee's recommendation is approved by the full commission, WLW will be limited to 50 kilowatts.

Commissioners Norman S. Case, T. A. M. Craven, and George Henry Payne signed the committee report. The superpower question reportedly has caused sharp division within the seven member commission. None of the other commissioners would disclose his reaction to the report, however.

FIVE KILLED WHEN TWO SIGHTSEEING PLANES COLLIDE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Two pilots and three passengers were killed late today when their sightseeing airplanes collided in the air and dropped in flames at the northeast edge of Detroit.

The victims were Walter Paselk, 46 years old, a pilot; his two passengers, Robert E. Lee, 26, and Lee's son, Robert Jr., 3; William Stansilaw, 35, the other pilot, and his passenger, Francis Baby, 23. All lived in Detroit.

The wives of Stanislaw and Baby were at the airport, near which the accident occurred, and saw the planes meet. The accident was attributed to the fact that one of the pilots was flying into the sun which blinded him and prevented him seeing the other plane.

Meeting his fellow men with loyalty
And kind, sweet courtesy always.

STEEL OUTPUT AT 51.5% SETS NEW 1938 HIGH

Auto Plant Orders Quicken Activity.

Steel ingot mills in the United States last week operated at a new 1938 high of 51.5 per cent of their theoretical capacity, the magazine Steel said yesterday. The 3 point rise in production from the rate of the preceding week was caused chiefly by quickening activity in the automobile industry, it said.

The weakness in the steel industry's price system, although it has caused some hesitation in buying, has not affected consumption importantly as yet, Steel said. Prospects for steady or larger consumption in the next sixty days, it added, are good.

Steel declared that automobile manufacturers, cheered by brisk retail demand for 1939 models, in some instances are boosting operations. Last week 50,540 automobiles were manufactured, against only 37,665 in the preceding week.

Auto Steel Cheaper.

"Latest reductions in sheet and strip prices mean that the automotive buyer at Detroit now is able to buy flat rolled steel for at least $9 a ton below the market last May," Steel said. "Compared with 1929, most automotive sheets are estimated to be selling at a reduction of about 40 per cent, and since 1923 the price has been reduced more than half."

Steel said the country's huge capacity for rolling sheets and strip, created through the building of numerous continuous mills in recent years, is to a large extent responsible for price weakness in times of light operations. It added, however, that "the increase in producing facilities has done little more than match the growth in consumption of flat rolled steel."

Capacity Shows Increase.

"Sheet and strip mills today represent slightly more than 30 per cent of all finishing mill capacity, whereas sheet and strip production in 1937 was 30 per cent of the total output of all finished products," Steel said.

Most steel making centers showed production gains last week, Steel said. Pittsburgh gained 3 points to 40 per cent of capacity; Chicago, 1 to 45.5 per cent; Cleveland, 3 to 54 per cent; Detroit, 5 to 77 per cent; New England, 5 to 70 per cent; Cincinnati, 27 to 70 per cent, and St. Louis, 3 to 48.5 per cent. Youngstown dropped 4 points to 51 per cent of capacity.

"Scrap prices," said Steel, "are steady in the face of rising steel production, and the composite is unchanged at the preceding week's level of $14.04. Weakness in flat rolled steel caused a drop of 48 cents in the iron and steel composite to $36.13."

National Distillers.

Investors' Guide: Please send me a report on the National Distillers Products corporation.—Mrs. C. H. M.

Answer: When prohibition was repealed in 1933, the National Distillers Products corporation had a competitive advantage over most other distillers because it owned large stocks of matured whisky. These had been built up during prohibition, when the company made about 40 per cent of the whisky sold to druggists in this country.

With large quantities of whisky produced by distillers since repeal now coming of age, however, National Distillers faces increased competition in the marketing of its [four year] bonded brands. Another unsettling factor is the sagging whisky price structure, weakened by the nation's climbing whisky stocks, which reached an all time high last spring.

More than 90 per cent of the company's revenue comes from whisky sales. Its distilleries have a capacity to produce more than 40,000,000 gallons a year. In 1937, however, production was cut to 10,234,000 gallons, less than half the 1936 output. This curtailment was in line with programs followed by many distillers to meet the problem of rising stocks.

The company sold 97 per cent as much whisky as it produced in 1937. This compared with sales of only 45 per cent of new whisky output for all domestic distillers combined.

Although the company made price cuts ranging up to 30 per cent in March, net income in the first six months of this year amounted to $2,766,353, only a shade lower than the $2,792,938 reported for the 1937 first half.

Sales and earnings in recent years follow:

	Sales.	Net income.	Per share.
1937	$61,938,849	$ 7,861,969	$3.86
1936	67,668,892	7,753,251	3.81
1935	52,526,463	7,009,238	3.44
1934	50,056,513	11,134,768	5.51
1933	15,580,378	6,086,906	3.23
1932	3,122,885	522,179	.52

Capitalization consists of funded debt of $14,431,000 and 2,036,896 shares of no par common stock. The debt is in the form of ten year 4½ per cent debentures due May 1, 1945.

OIL HUNT WIDENS; LEASE TAZEWELL COUNTY REGIONS

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The oil search has spread to Tazewell county in central Illinois. It was reported today that leases have been made covering several thousand acres along the Tazewell-McLean county line. Tazewell county is about twenty-five miles west of Bloomington.

Oil men from the southern part of the state have been in Tazewell county the last week.

A letter from Dr. A. H. Bell, state geologist and head of the oil and gas division of the state of Illinois, says the state has no record of any oil test having been made in Tazewell county. Dr. Bell further stated in the letter that the producing sands should be found at about 450 feet, 1,240 feet, 1,680 feet, and 1,990 feet. Arrangements have been made for equipment capable of testing all these formations, as well as deeper ones.

MEXICO WANTS A DEAL ON LAND DEBTS, SILVER

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The Mexican ambassador to Washington, Castillo Majera, today expressed hope the United States will continue to buy Mexican silver through 1939 if Mexico agrees to settle with American landowners whose property Mexico has expropriated.

The ambassador called at the American embassy on the eve of his return to Washington by plane tomorrow. After talking to American officials he appeared hopeful of an agrarian settlement.

Apparently Mexico seeks an agreement under which the United States government would indirectly recompense American landowners injured in Mexico.

United States treasury silver purchases are giving Mexico a large amount of funds in the form of taxes reaped by it on silver exports. The Mexican government is prepared to use part of this money to pay American land owners, it was indicated.

Hides to Lether—XI.

The soles on the shoes you wear come from the best cattle hides. They are cut from the "bend" or the side of the animal with the head, shoulders and belly removed.

The prolonged tanning process which changed them from animal skin to lether makes them tough enough to resist abrasion against sidewalks but flexible enough to bend with your step.

Hides of the grade used in making lether soles sold during September this year from about 11 to 12 cents a pound. For the first seven months this year 11,164,000 hides were consumed by the tanning industry.

Men's lether soles sell for an average price of about 35 cents a pair and women's about 20 cents, wholesale. Cobblers for repair work usually purchase the best grades. Repair soles often are better than the original ones.

Competing with lether in the sole market are composition soles made from rubber. These sell for less than half as much as lether. The threat from lether substitutes is a serious one to the lether sole industry.

Salaries of 1,721 Executives Average $30,010 Each in Year

Salaries of the executives of 146 large corporations averaged $30,010 each in 1937, the American Federation of Investors, Inc., reported yesterday.

The study covered 1,721 executives whose combined salaries were $51,648,539. The salaries were equal to one-eighth of 1 per cent of the invested capital under the executives' management, the report showed. The amount paid to the 1,721 also was equal to 1.57 per cent of the total earnings of the companies before payment of federal and state taxes and before dividends. The federation said their salaries averaged about 8 cents per share of stock.

Seeks to Correct Misstatements.

The survey was made, the federation said, in view of "many unreliable statements regarding the salaries of the executive officers of our large corporations." The federation is a nonprofit organization designed to protect the savings of investors.

"It should be remembered," the federation said, "that the salaries of these executive officers are subject to income tax, federal and state. The surtax on large salaries runs very high. For example, in addition to the normal 4 per cent federal income tax, the surtax on a salary of $50,000 per year is 27 per cent and the surtax on a salary of $100,000 is 55 per cent."

The federation also presented a study of the earnings of 150 companies, and their relation to taxes.

Analyzes High Taxes.

"We find," it said, "that the earnings in 1937 of these companies, before deduction of taxes and dividends, were $3,434,916,558. Out of these earnings was taken for taxes by the federal and state governments $1,631,284,094, or 47½ per cent.

"Out of what was left after taxes these 150 companies distributed to their stockholders in dividends $1,425,156,448, or 41½ per cent. These facts might be less alarming if the 1937 taxes could be regarded as exceptionally high in comparison to the outlook for future years. Unfortunately, even higher taxes are in store for every American citizen.

"Extravagant government spending continues at an accelerated rate. The federal deficit for the first three months of the fiscal year is $710,000,000, and the federal debt on Oct. 5 reached an all time high of $38,426,368,000."

NORTH AMERICAN AVIATION VOTES 40 CENT DIVIDEND

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 16.—(AP)—The board of directors of North American Aviation, Inc., today voted a dividend of 40 cents a share of capital stock. It is payable Dec. 1 to stockholders of record Nov. 15.

J. H. Kindelberger, president, in his report to the board, said "unfilled orders Sept. 30 amounted to $14,800,000, despite record deliveries of approximately $6,000,000 in the first nine months of 1938."

Kindelberger, who announced he will sail for England next week in connection with the company's foreign orders, compared the 40 cent dividend with an initial dividend of 12½ cents per share paid in December, 1937.

E. R. Breech, group executive of the General Motors corporation, Detroit, presided at the board meeting.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson and Donald R. Richberg, both former administrators of the national industrial recovery act, will speak at the meeting of the American Petroleum institute in Chicago Nov. 14 to 18. About 3,000 oil men will attend.

Richberg will speak at the first general session the afternoon of Nov. 16. Gen. Johnson will address the second session the next afternoon.

The first two and one-half days of the meeting will be devoted to sessions of various committees and subcommittees. Nine officers, fifty-five directors, and sixty members of divisional general committees are to be elected at the meeting.

American Writing Paper Has $46,031 Quarter Loss

The American Writing Paper company yesterday reported a third quarter net loss of $46,031. This compared with a loss of $31,050 in the corresponding 1937 period.

Pennsylvania-Central Airlines reported for the nine month to Sept. 30 a net loss of $15,877, compared with a net loss of $107,443 in the corresponding 1937 period.

ROOSEVELT WOULD LIKE TO RUN, BUT WON'T, SAYS HIGH

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Oct. 16.—(AP)—Dr. Stanley High, publicist, today said President Roosevelt would "like to run" for a third term, but added he didn't believe the President would.

"Nobody ever in the White House, with the exception perhaps of Theodore Roosevelt, enjoyed it so much," said the organizer of the Good Neighbor league. He spoke at the annual national conference on business and investments.

Dr. High declared that the United States, in proportion to its resources, has made less progress than any other nation during the depression.

"There is still a colossal amount of floundering in Washington," he said. "In terms of human problems we are still a long way from nowhere.

"What we are suffering from economically is less the size of debts and taxes than uncertainty. If we could say we're going to balance the budget it would cost us more, but most business men would be willing to get rid of the uncertainty of not knowing what is coming next."

GRAIN MARKETS REVEAL DECLINE IN SPECULATION

Volume of Trading at Record Low.

Speculative trading in the grain markets is at a record low level. This is disclosed by data compiled by the Commodity Exchange administration on the business transacted on the Chicago Board of Trade.

In the first eight months of 1938 aggregate sales of all grain futures on the exchange, as officially reported, were about 6 billion bushels. This is the smallest volume for a comparable period since compilation of the figures began in 1921. During the same period in 1937 the sales were about 12 billion bushels.

The normal speculative interest in grain trading is large. A survey made by the CEA in September, 1934, showed one out of every 4,000 adults in the United States was trading in the wheat and corn markets.

Market Being Regulated.

Brokers give different reasons for the present limited public interest in the market. The main factor, they said, is the fact that the wheat market is largely ruled by governmental operations here and abroad.

Lack of leadership, such as formerly was furnished by large operators, is also a factor in the small volume of trading. Brokers say there are no large operators active now.

In September, when the wheat market was stirred by the European war scare, sales of all grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade reached about 756 million bushels. During the same month in 1937 sales were 943 million bushels.

Wheat Prices Lose Gains.

Wheat prices rose temporarily on the war threat, but are now near the level existing Sept. 1.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Farm Guests

October 16, 1938.

BIG crowds from the city continue to swarm down the byways and highways in and around the Tribune's Du Page county farm. Sunny days have lured more than 3,000 to the farm within the last month. Sunday crowds recently have ranged from 450 to more than 500.

Guest books show that approximately 72,000 have visited the Tribune's farms—one near Wheaton, the other near Yorkville—during the last four years. This total includes 7,000 who visited the Fox river farm in Kendall county before all the experimental and exhibition crops were switched to the Du Page county farm in 1936. It also includes crowds of 18,000 spectators who attended the horse and mule pulling contests held on the farm near Wheaton in 1935 and 1936.

Many Unregistered.

The total of 72,000 visitors does not include many unregistered guests who tour the farm in summer and especially those who go to the farm in late fall and winter after the information house at the test plot is closed and before the guest book is made available in early spring. In addition many persons visited the Fox river farm in 1934, the year the Tribune's experimental work was launched and before the system of registering guests was started.

Lately school children have made up the bulk of the weekday crowds. Records show that 1,167 children from twenty-four schools in Chicago and surrounding suburbs visited the Du Page county farm between Sept. 26 and Oct. 14. On a single day last week 413 children and teachers were at the farm.

Until Friday there had been 10,360 visitors at the Du Page county farm this year. There is an increasing number of school children going to the farm. Teachers find it a convenient place to conduct outdoor classes in nature studies.

Parties of school children usually go to the farm in buses. For years they have read about the farm as it is reported from day to day in this column. Many know in advance what they may expect to find when they reach the farm. Under the direction of guides and teachers the children run wild over the pastures and meadows, searching for the hiding places of wild game birds and waterfowl, quail, ringneck pheasants, rabbits, squirrels, wild geese of the Canadian honker variety, and green heads and blue wing teal of the duck family.

A Treat by Pieface.

Around the barns and feed yards the cattle, horses, mules, and sheep are paraded for the benefit of the children whenever the guides have the time. A ride on the broad back of old Pieface, the flockmaster's riding horse, has been a rare treat for many children.

Some teachers give the children their first lesson in poultry keeping at the farm. This gives the gobblers their chance to strut and display their gay feathers. Muscovy ducks that wobble over the poultry yard behind their red masks hit the funny spot of youngsters. But cold chills are sent down many spines when the spotted guineas break loose with their rat-tat-tat chorus of potracks.

The newest exhibit in the flockmaster's barnyard menagerie is a fawn, brought to the farm a few weeks ago.

BUSINESS GAINS AS YEAR NEARS END, AYRES SAYS

Business is making "unmistakable progress" as it enters the final quarter of 1938, Col. Leonard P. Ayres declares in his current monthly survey. The vice president of the Cleveland Trust company says the third quarter was "a period of strong recovery." The upturn, he adds, is continuing.

"Continuation of improvement is almost assured in October and November," Ayres says. "The degree of business improvement will depend primarily on the volume of the flow of new capital into business. So far this year there has been a good increase in new capital issues for expanding enterprise."

A CORRECTION!

Recently we advertised two cars on terms stating: "6% interest on balance."

This was inaccurate as the time payment charge was a discount rate of $6 per $100, and therefore substantially higher than 6% simple interest.

We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.
